

AcknowledgmentWorking/studying while not fully vaccinated against Hepatitis B

I understand that due to the nature of my university-sanctioned activities, either as part of my work (occupational exposure) or as part of my academic and research activities, I may be at risk of acquiring Hepatitis B. I have been given the opportunity to be vaccinated with the Hepatitis B vaccine, at no charge to myself. I chose to get vaccinated and started or will start my vaccination series soon. Given that the full vaccination series takes up to 6 months, I choose to start my work/study before finishing my full vaccination series. I understand that during this period, and until my immunity is proven by a post-vaccination blood test, I am not considered as fully vaccinated and carry a risk of acquiring Hepatitis B.
