

MODERN CHINESE

FACULTY

Lian Duan, Senior Lecturer and Coordinator
Lian.Duan@concordia.ca, FB-1030.19, ext. 2488, Research Interests: language pedagogy, translation, Chinese literature and art, critical writing and creative writing.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

Minor in Modern Chinese Language (Mandarin) and Culture and Certificate in Modern Chinese Language (Mandarin) and Culture aim to provide language competency in Mandarin Chinese and, through the inclusion of courses on culture, literature and topics offered by other departments (history, religion, and political science), a broad overview of Chinese culture.

The department offers two programs in Mandarin Chinese language and culture, each 30 credits: the Minor and the Certificate. The Minor program gives students majoring in another discipline a valid and adequate background in Chinese language and culture studies.

PLACEMENT

To find out whether or not you should take a language placement test and how to access the tests, please visit the link below:

<http://www.concordia.ca/artsci/cml/programs/undergraduate/modern-languages/language-placement.html>

If you are unsure about your level of placement in the language courses, please see the Undergraduate Class Schedule for procedures and our web site for placement tests. Please feel free to contact the Department for verification.

Students should be aware that the misrepresentation of one's linguistic background and abilities is considered a form of Academic Misconduct and, as such, will be treated as a Code Violation by the Department of Classics, Modern Languages and Linguistics.

THE DEPARTMENT RESERVES THE RIGHT TO TRANSFER A STUDENT TO A HIGHER-LEVEL LANGUAGE COURSE IF IT IS DEEMED THAT THE COURSE FOR WHICH THE STUDENT HAS REGISTERED IS NOT APPROPRIATE FOR THE EXTENT OF HIS OR HER KNOWLEDGE OF THE LANGUAGE.

MCHI 200 Introduction to Modern Chinese I (6 credits)

This course provides an intensive introduction to the basic elements of Chinese for the student with no knowledge of the language. Emphasis is on basic grammatical concepts, listening comprehension, and sound reproduction. Approximately 300 characters are studied.

NOTE: Students whose first language is Chinese, or who have received a substantial part of their education in Chinese, may not register for this course.

NOTE: Students who have received credit for MCHI 205 may not take this course for credit.

NOTE: Lab practice is compulsory in addition to class time: two hours per week for six-credit sections.

MCHI 206 Introduction to Modern Chinese (Mandarin) II (6 credits)

Prerequisite: MCHI 200. This course continues the introduction to the basic elements of Mandarin Chinese, adding approximately 300 further characters.

NOTE: Students whose first language is Mandarin Chinese, or who have received a substantial part of their education in Mandarin Chinese, may not register for this course.

NOTE: Lab practice is compulsory in addition to class time: two hours per week for six-credit sections.

MCHI 240 Intermediate Modern Chinese I (6 credits)

Prerequisite: MCHI 206 or equivalent. The aim of this course is to consolidate the knowledge acquired in MCHI 200 and 206 and pursue communication skills on basic general topics in all competencies of the language, adding approximately 300 further characters.

MCHI 250 Intermediate Modern Chinese II (3 credits)

Prerequisite: MCHI 240 or equivalent. This course is a continuation of MCHI 240. It prepares intermediate language students in diverse aspects of reading, writing, and conversation. In addition to improving listening comprehension and speaking skills, this course places increased emphasis on reading and writing.

NOTE: Students who have received credit for this topic under an MCHI 398 number may not take this course for credit.

MCHI 310 Introduction to Modern Chinese Literature (3 credits)

This course provides an introduction to the works of some of the major writers of contemporary Chinese culture. The course is taught in English and reading materials are in English translation.

MCHI 311 Classical Chinese Literature (3 credits)

Taught in English, this course introduces classical Chinese literature from 1500 BCE to the end of the 19th century in its historical and cultural setting. Covering the four major literary genres of poetry, prose, drama and fiction, students learn both key Chinese aesthetic concepts and Western critical theory, with a view to encouraging cross- and intercultural interpretations. Major works are read in English translation. NOTE: Students who have received credit for this topic under an MCHI 398 number may not take this course for credit.

MCHI 365 Introduction to Chinese Cultural Traditions (3 credits)

This course is an introduction to the formation and traditions of Chinese culture. Topics may include Confucian and Taoist philosophy, literature, and the arts. This course is taught in English.

NOTE: Students who have received credit for this topic under an MCHI 398 number may not take this course for credit.

MCHI 366 Chinese Visual Culture (3 credits)

Taught in English, this course introduces students to the traditions and achievements of Chinese visual culture. Employing contemporary critical approaches, students explore both mass and high cultures, with a primary focus on the development of Chinese painting from the 10th century to the present, with an emphasis on the interpretation of images. NOTE: Students who have received credit for this topic under an MCHI 398 number may not take this course for credit.
