1) CONFERENCES

a) Concordia University's School of Extended Learning is organising a conference on life long learning and Quebec's English-speaking communities. It will take place in Montreal on the evening of April 16 and during the day of April 17. QESCRN is on the organising committee. Official information to be sent out soon but in the meantime if you are interested in participating, please let me know.

b) The Association for Canadian Studies is holding a symposium on "the impact the adoption of the 1969 Official Languages Act (OLA) on Official Language Minority Communities and on Canadian society in general over the last four decades." It takes place in Gatineau on March 12-13. For information, see the front page of www.acs-aec.ca.

2) RESEARCH FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

Please note that a) below can cover different disciplines including history and culture.

a) Canadian Institutes of Health Research: Fellowship: Official Language Minority Communities.

The funding can cover issues like "sociocultural and historical characteristics of the community, degree of integration, mobility, norms and values" that affect population health, and "connections between language, culture and health [which] have to do with the effects of the minority linguistic and cultural experience on identity development and health."

I contacted the program officer, Marilyn Desrosiers, about who is eligible to apply. Information on the website suggests it is for health professionals, but I wondered whether historians and others could be considered given the subject areas under consideration. Ms. Desrosiers indicated to me that "applicants must not necessarily all be health researchers however their topic of research must be closely linked and relevant to health (as a broad concept) - Fellowships are for students who wish to pursue their studies in a particular research area" and "it can be for either Masters, PhD or Post Doc fellows. The amount awarded depends on the level."

b) Canadian Institutes of Health Research: Catalyst Grant: Official Language Minority Communities

(2008-2009)

"The specific objectives of this funding opportunity are:

- To support research on the health issues experienced within official language minority communities.
- To increase our knowledge related to accessibility, or lack of, health services in one's language of choice (French or English) and its impact on the health status of these two linguistic communities"

3) QESCRN news

The Quebec English-Speaking Community Research Network is developing well. There are 36 people on this mailing list from the academic, community and government research spheres. The network's governing body, called the Research and Liaison Group, is meeting for the first time next week and will set the work agenda for QESCRN. New activities and projects should be announced shortly!

Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network (QUESCREN)
Newsletter for April 6, 2009

Hello everyone,

It's been a while since I sent out a newsletter! Here is an extra-long one to cover the last couple of weeks. New and improved: No one (including me) knew how to pronounce the old acronym for our group-- QESCRN--and so we've changed it. Also, our full name now pluralizes the word "communities." Therefore, we are now known as the Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network (QUESCREN -- pronounced "Quesc - ren"). Hope you like it.

Please find information below related to Quebec English-speaking community research. Your news, questions and comments are welcome so please send them in! Headings below are:

1) FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES & BURSARY

- Cultural Development Fund (arts, culture & heritage): DEADLINE MAY 4, 2009:
Canadian Heritage has announced an important new funding opportunity related to official language communities (i.e., including English-speaking Quebecers) from the federal department of Canadian Heritage. Here are the objectives as posted on the information website:
  - Support and strengthen the cultural and artistic activities and cultural expression of official-language minority communities to enhance their vitality.
  - Promote the contribution of arts, culture and heritage to the sustainable development of official-language minority communities and Canadian society.
  - Develop and promote the arts, culture and heritage of official-language minority communities in Canadian society.
  - Foster identity-building and a sense of belonging within Canada's official-language minority communities.
  - Give Canadians access to the richness of the official-language minority communities' culture, arts and heritage.

For information, see <http://www.pch.gc.ca/pgm/lo-ol/pgm/cult-eng.cfm> *** I am currently in contact with the Canadian Heritage officials to see whether there might be funding for research, both applied (eg., needs assessments, member surveys for community groups, etc.) and fundamental (eg., support for a workshop bringing together community and university people who want to develop joint research projects; research on heritage resources). I am awaiting a reply. In the meantime, anyone who has research project ideas related to this fund who would like to discuss the ideas with me, get names of potential university- or community-based collaborators, etc., please contact me immediately and we'll see what we can do!Lorraine O'Donnell, coordinator-researcher, QUESCREN, lodo@videotron,

- New FQRSC research grant on homelessness: Note that while this grant is not targeted for Quebec English speakers, one of the criteria that researchers must collect information on is mother tongue spoken. Here is the grant description: "Le Fonds québécois de la recherche sur la société et la culture (FQRSC) et son partenaire, le Ministère de la Santé et des Services

sociaux (MSSS) sont heureux d'offrir à la communauté scientifique un appel de propositions portant sur : « Le portrait de l'itinérance au Québec ». Les chercheurs intéressés par cette thématique et qui souhaitent présenter une demande de subvention sont invités à consulter le site Internet du Fonds

6) QUESCREN NEWS

- Launch of QUESCREN, Montreal, April 17: the Quebec English-Speaking Community Research Network is pleased to invite you to our launch! It will feature a talk by Graham Fraser, Commissioner of Official Languages, plus the launch of a new bibliography of sources on English-speaking Quebec. Please see the attached invitation.

- Collaborative community-based research project: QUESCREN has recently taken on the management of a project to identify web-based materials to help support people working in the development of Quebec's English-speaking communities. The project sponsor is the Quebec Community Groups Network and it involves collaboration with Concordia University's School of Community and Public Affairs and Institute for Community Development as well as with the Centre for Community Organizations.

7) ABOUT THIS EMAIL LIST

- I have compiled this list through contacting people directly or referrals. Please let me know if you have new names/groups to suggest, or if you would like to be removed from it.
- Also: if you have news about research related to Quebec's English-speaking communities (conferences, funding, etc.), please forward it to me so I can put it on the next mail out. Thank you.

Kind regards,

Lorraine O'Donnell, Ph.D.

1) FUNDING/SCHOLARSHIP/RESEARCH CONTRACT

- New FQRSC research grant on homelessness: Note that while this grant is not targeted for Quebec English speakers, one of the criteria that researchers must collect information on is mother tongue spoken. Here is the grant description: "Le Fonds québécois de la recherche sur la société et la culture (FQRSC) et son partenaire, le Ministère de la Santé et des Services sociaux (MSSS) sont heureux d'offrir à la communauté scientifique un appel de propositions portant sur : « Le portrait de l'itinérance au Québec ». Les chercheurs intéressés par cette thématique et qui souhaitent présenter une demande de subvention sont invités à consulter le site Internet du Fonds :

- IRELAND CANADA UNIVERSITY FOUNDATION CRAIG DOBBIN AWARDS:
The Craig Dobbin Awards 2009-10 fund short periods of exchange, usually one month, valued at $7000, and are targeted at scholars in the early stages of their career. Canadian

Scholarships (for Canadian scholars to visit Ireland): programme launch 27th February 2009, applications closing date 30th April 2009. Further information on the awards and application forms available at www.icuf.ie <<http://www.icuf.ie>> <<http://www.icuf.ie>> <<http://www.icuf.ie>> .or by emailing info@icuf.ie. (Information from the Canadian Irish Studies News. To subscribe, visit <http://cdnirish.concordia.ca> and click on "contact us.")

- Research contract: analysis of media and English-speaking Quebec: The Office of the Commissioner of Official Languages is looking for a person/company to do a media analysis on Anglophone Quebecers. I do not have more information on the contract for the moment, other than that it had previously been posted on Merx (the federal government website for public tenders) and listed as having a value of < $25,000. If you and/or any of your associates or senior students might be interested in this great applied research opportunity, please let me know immediately (Lorraine O'Donnell, lodo@videotron.ca) and I'll forward your name(s) to my contact person at OCOL for their consideration.

- BOOK LISTING FUNDING: From publicity received by QUESCEN: "The new Subsidy Directory 2009 is now available. It is the most complete and affordable reference for anyone looking for financing. It is the perfect tool for new and existing businesses, individuals, foundations and associations. This Publication contains more than 3500 direct and indirect financial subsidies, grants and loans offered by government departments and agencies, foundations, associations and organizations. [...] All programs are well described." Contact: 1-866-322-3376.

2) PUBLICATIONS & ONLINE RESOURCES

- NEW bibliography of sources on English-speaking Quebec: QUESCEN, in collaboration with the Canadian Institute for Linguistic Minority Research and Concordia University's School of Extended Learning, are proud to announce the publication of volume 3 of Brendan O'Donnell's Sources for the study of English-speaking Quebec: An annotated bibliography of works produced between 1990 and 2008. It lists over 2,700 sources grouped under the following main headings: Bibliographies, Culture, Economics, Education, Ethnic studies (studies of sub-groups), Health care studies, History, Politics, Regional studies, Religion, Sociology (including Anglophones, Demolinguistics, English-French relations, Working-class and Youth), Women's studies. Cost: $30 paper, $15 searchable (on PCs) CD-rom. If you would like a copy, please contact me (Lorraine O'Donnell, lodo@videotron.ca). You can also order the complete set of 3 volumes (vols. 1-2 paper, vol. 3 paper or CD-rom), for $50. Note that the first 2 of were produced by the Eastern Townships Research Centre, www.etric.ca<<http://www.etric.ca>> and they also have copies of volumes 1-2 for sale.

- New pilot project: online bibliography of sources on English-speaking Quebec: QUESCREN, in collaboration with the Canadian Institute for Linguistic Minority Research and Concordia University's School of Extended Learning, are proud to announce the launch of a pilot project to put Brendan O'Donnell's Sources for the study of English-speaking Quebec online. There are currently 250 online. In the coming months, pending funding and partnerships, we hope to put all 3 volumes of the bibliography on this site, for a total of 10,000 articles and books! Please visit the site and tell me what you think of it: www.point-de-liaison.com/wikindx-en/ <<http://www.point-de-liaison.com/wikindx-en/>> Note that QUESCREN plans to have consultations with researchers and community groups to see how we can make this tool as useful as possible.
- Article on Irish Quebec: The Irish Academic Press will soon publish a book entitled The British Empire and its Contested Pasts. It contains an article by Concordia PhD graduate Dr. Simon Jolivet. For more information, visit <http://www.iap.ie/> <<http://www.iap.ie/>>

3) NEW RESEARCH PROJECTS: INPUT SOUGHT

- Project to document Quebec's diverse community groups: The Centre for Community Organizations (COCO) works with groups who support communities in all shapes and forms across the province. COCo has developed a project to document the diversity of community groups in Quebec and understand more clearly how they relate to broader systems such as provincial funding bodies. COCo is encouraging community groups in Montreal, Laval and the Eastern Townships to participate in an on-line survey. Other regions will be invited to participate over the next two years. The survey is vital to help the centre in its work of raising the profile and viability of ethnocultural, bilingual and English-speaking groups. Click here to view the survey. For more information on COCo click here. (Information from QCGN "Daily Briefing." To subscribe, visit www.qcgn.ca).
- Do you have information on web-based tools to support community organisers? QUESCREN, in collaboration with the Quebec Community Groups Network, is managing a project to identify materials to help support people working in the development of Quebec's English-speaking communities. If you know of some good web-based materials, please contact Lorraine O'Donnell, coordinator-researcher, QUESCREN, at lodo@videotron.ca

4) UPCOMING EVENTS

- Talk on Scottish Glengarry Regiment and its service in Ireland, Quebec, April 21: Irish Heritage Quebec will hold a talk on this topic by Kathleen Toomey. Refreshments served. Tuesday, April 21, 7:30 p.m., 1145 De Salaberry, Quebec. Information: 418-527-2238 (information from the Quebec Anglophone Heritage Network newsletter).

- 2009 Blue Metropolis Montreal Literary Festival, Montreal, April 22 to 26: while this is not a research event, Blue Metropolis offers many opportunities for discussions on English-language literature including Quebec-based literature. "The 11th Blue Met brings you words worth writing, works worth reading, writers worth quoting, texts worth teaching – all kinds of words that can make the world a better place. And what are those words? Inclusion and diversity, for a start. Fighting words. Respect, commitment, quality, innovation. And fun! " Festival-goers will be able to listen in on oral history documentaries created by students who participated in the Voices from Quebec program, a collaboration between the Quebec Anglophone Heritage Network and the Blue Metropolis Literary Foundation. It puts English-speaking Quebec students together with an author, a radio producer and a sound engineer to create oral history radio documentaries about Quebec communities from Nunavik to the Lower North Shore. This year's podcasts will be available at sound stations positioned on the Festival site. Finished documentaries will also soon be available for download from the QAHN website.
Information: www.bluemetropolis.org <<http://www.bluemetropolis.org>> and www.qahn.org <<http://www.qahn.org>> .

1) FORUM REPORT

- Forum on Montreal diversity

On May 22, 2009, the QCGN and its Greater Montreal Community Development Initiative (GMCDI), along with the Association for Canadian Studies and Concordia University's Quebec English-Speaking Community Research Network (QUESCREN) held a successful daylong forum entitled "Understanding Diversity in English-Speaking Montreal." A lot of useful information was exchanged and people from academic and other research environments had the opportunity to exchange ideas and news with community organisers, government representatives and others.

Participants included several people who do research on aspects of Quebec's English-speaking communities and are already supporters of QUESCREN, including Eric Shragge (from Concordia University's School of Community and Public Affairs and a member of QUESCREN's Research and Liaison Group (board); David Austin (Alfie Roberts Institute), Anne-Marie Livingstone, Community Learning Centers Project, Hugh Maynard, Qu'anglo Communications and Jack Jedwab, Association for Canadian Studies.

The event also provided me (QUESCREN coordinator-researcher Lorraine O'Donnell) with the opportunity to introduce QUESCREN to several other researchers who are now receiving this newsletter and learning about what we do, including Ratna Ghosh, Faculty of Education, McGill University; Spyridoula Xencoostas, CLSC Cote-des-neiges, Directrice du centre de recherche et de formation du csss de la montagne; Catherine Montgomery, CLSC Cote-des-neiges, / McGill University, and Fred Genesse, Department of Psychology, McGill University.

2) COURSES

- Courses pertaining to the Quebec Irish

The Centre for Canadian Irish Studies has announced its course list for Fall 2009 – Winter 2010. The following specifically pertain to the Quebec Irish:

Fall 2009:

Introduction to Canadian Irish Studies (IRST 203)

The Irish in Quebec (IRST 398K)

Irish Music in Quebec and Canada (IRST 498C/ ANTH 498T/ SOCI 498T)

Winter 2010:

- Study on second-language learning opportunities in Canada's universities (preliminary results)

Graham Fraser, the Commissioner of Official Languages, delivered the preliminary results of his study on second-language learning opportunities in Canada's universities before the House of Commons Standing Committee on Official Languages. The study pointed out a number of broad directions for intervention:

- The need to offer more intensive second-language learning opportunities;
- The need to make better use of the potential of institutions that teach in the other official language, through collaboration and partnerships and the use of technology;
- The need to offer students more exchanges and real-life opportunities to use their second language in Canada; and
- The need to look again at second-language policies and requirements and how they can be used to improve second-language learning at university.

- The final report, including recommendations, will be available in the fall.

- New bibliography of sources on English-speaking Quebec

QUESCREN, in collaboration with the Canadian Institute for Linguistic Minority Research and Concordia University's School of Extended Learning, is proud to announce the publication of volume 3 of Brendan O'Donnell's Sources for the study of English-speaking Quebec: An annotated bibliography of works produced between 1990 and 2008. It lists over 2,700 sources grouped under the following main headings: Bibliographies, Culture, Economics, Education, Ethnic studies (studies of sub-groups), Health care studies, History, Politics, Regional studies, Religion, Sociology (including Anglophones, Demolinguistics, English-French relations, Working-class and Youth), Women's studies. Cost: $30 paper, $15 searchable CD-rom. Information: lodo@videotron.ca. You can also order the complete set of 3 volumes (vols. 1-2 paper, vol. 3 paper or CD-rom), for $50. Note that the first 2 volumes were produced by the Eastern Townships Research Centre, <http://www.etcrc.ca>. They have copies of volumes 1-2 for sale.

- New online bibliography of sources on English-speaking Quebec (pilot project)

QUESCREN is proud to announce the launch of a pilot project to put Brendan O'Donnell's Sources for the study of English-speaking Quebec online. There are currently 250 sources listed online. In the coming months, pending funding and partnerships, we hope to put all 3 volumes of the bibliography on this site, for a total of 10,000 articles and books! Please visit the site and tell me what you think of it: <http://www.point-de-liaison.com/wikindx-en/>. Note that QUESCREN plans to have consultations with researchers and community groups to see how we can make this tool as useful as possible.

4) RESEARCH PROJECT ANNOUNCEMENTS & REQUEST

- Project announcement: study on role of teachers in identity construction

Diane Gérin-Lajoie of the University of Toronto has received a grant from the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada (SSHRC) to study the question of teachers in Quebec's English language school system and their role in linguistic and cultural reproduction. Her research project summary reads in part: "the school becomes a "'ieu de rassemblement' for the two official minorities in Canada, where public expectations are often high in regards to the reproduction of the minority language and culture and in regards, also, to the development of a sense of belonging to the minority group. In this school context, the responsibility to meet these expectations fall mostly on the teachers. How do teachers make sense of their work in linguistic minority settings?" For more information, please see the project summary (attached, document "CRS09") or contact Diane Gérin-Lajoie at dgerinlajoie@oise.utoronto.ca.)

- Project announcement: study on education and intergroup contact

Benoît Côté, Université de Sherbrooke, has received a "Établissement de nouveaux professeurs-chercheurs" grant from the Fonds québécois de la recherche sur la société et la culture (FQRSC) to carry out the following research project: "Évaluation d'un programme novateur de scolarisation commune entre francophones et anglophones au Québec : élaboration d'un modèle longitudinal des contacts intergroupes et du développement du bilinguisme."

- Research project request for participation: Ottawa-Gatineau English speakers needed

Project Ottawa, a research team with the Department of Geography, University of Ottawa, would like to speak with anglophones in Quebec about their experiences in Ottawa-Gatineau. The event is looking for anglophones living in Aylmer, Le Plateau or Chelsea to discuss several topics including:

- Vision of neighborhood and city
- Everyday experiences at work or school
- Feelings about community services
- Where social relationships are maintained.

1) PUBLICATIONS & OTHER RESOURCES

- Acfas presentations available (one on community vitality statistics; one on media and francophone minority communities)

Sylvie Lafrenière of Statistics Canada has kindly made available to QUESCREN two presentations she and colleagues gave at the recent Acfas conference. If you would like copies, please contact Lorraine O'Donnell, QUESCREN coordinator-researcher, at lorraine.odonnell@concordia.ca. Here are titles of the presentations and Mme. Lafrenière's comments about them, for your information:

- "Les comparaisons régionales avec l'enquête sur la vitalité des minorités de langue officielle (EVMLO)", a été présentée dans le cadre du colloque de l'Association des démographes du Québec et avait comme objectif de promouvoir l'EVMLO ainsi que ses possibilités d'analyse. J'ai notamment mis l'accent sur la possibilité d'étudier les anglophones dans les cinq régions du Québec disponibles dans l'enquête. De plus, j'ai mentionné que nous avons, dans l'enquête, sur-échantillonné les allophones qui habitent dans la RMR de Montréal afin de permettre des comparaisons entre ceux qui se dirigent vers l'anglais et ceux qui se dirigent vers le français. Mon objectif était de présenter l'EVMLO et d'encourager les démographes à utiliser la base de données pour faire des recherches. Je n'ai présenté aucune donnée.
- "Entre pragmatisme et éthos communautaire? Rapport aux médias et aux activités de loisir en milieu minoritaire canadien" [presentation by Christiane Bernier, Commissariat aux langues officielles, Simon Laflamme, Université Laurentienne and Sylvie Lafrenière, Statistique Canada] a été présentée dans le cadre du colloque du Réseau de la recherche sur la francophonie canadienne (RRF). Comme nous nous adressons aux membres du RRF, nous avons choisi de présenter uniquement les données sur les adultes de langue française à l'extérieur du Québec. Nous comptons faire les mêmes tests statistiques pour les résultats des adultes de langue anglaise du Québec que pour les adultes de langue française à l'extérieur du Québec. D'ailleurs, la présentation portait sur les résultats préliminaires de notre plus large étude qui s'inscrit dans un projet d'envergure pour analyser les données de l'EVMLO. Rodrigue Landry, directeur de l'Institut canadien de recherche sur les minorités linguistiques (ICRML), à l'université de Moncton, dirige un collectif d'environ 20 chercheurs qui travaillent tous sur les divers thèmes abordés dans l'EVMLO, par exemple l'éducation, le sentiment d'appartenance, l'accès aux soins de santé dans la langue de la minorité, etc. Christiane Bernier, Simon Laflamme et moi-même examinons les déterminants sociaux et les caractéristiques individuelles influençant les pratiques de consommation des médias dans la langue de la minorité. Nous avons plusieurs hypothèses à vérifier et nous aurons certainement des résultats fort intéressants à présenter pour les minorités de langue officielle du Québec et de l'extérieur du Québec. Mais nous ne sommes qu'au début de l'analyse des données.

- New bibliography of sources on English-speaking Quebec

QUESCREN, in collaboration with the Canadian Institute for Linguistic Minority Research and Concordia University's School of Extended Learning, is proud to announce the publication of volume 3 of Brendan O'Donnell's Sources for the study of English-speaking Quebec: An annotated bibliography of works produced between 1990 and 2008. It lists over 2,700 sources grouped under the following main headings: Bibliographies, Culture, Economics, Education, Ethnic studies (studies of sub-groups), Health care studies, History, Politics, Regional studies, Religion, Sociology (including Anglophones, Demolinguistics, English-French relations, Working-class and Youth), Women's studies. Cost: $30 paper, $15 searchable CD-rom (plus taxes). You can also order the complete set of 3 volumes (vols. 1-2 paper, vol. 3 paper or CD-rom), for $50. Note that the first 2 volumes were produced by the Eastern Townships Research Centre, <http://www.etr.ca>. They have copies of volumes 1-2 for sale. Information: Lorraine.ODonnell@concordia.ca.

- New online bibliography of sources on English-speaking Quebec (pilot project)

QUESCREN is proud to announce the launch of a pilot project to put Brendan O'Donnell's Sources for the study of English-speaking Quebec online. There are currently 250 sources listed online. In the coming months, pending funding and partnerships, we hope to put all 3 volumes of the bibliography on this site, for a total of 10,000 articles and books! Please visit the site and tell me what you think of it: <http://www.point-de-liaison.com/wikindx-en/>. Note that QUESCREN plans to have consultations with researchers and community groups to see how we can make this tool as useful as possible.

2) QUESCREN NEWS

- The network keeps growing!

This bulletin is sent out to 148 addresses; it reaches hundreds of individuals! QUESCREN regularly receives news, invitations to events, and proposals for collaboration on research projects. Stay tuned for more QUESCREN-sponsored research events and initiatives in the coming months.

3) UPCOMING EVENTS (not exhibits)

- Quebec Francophone-Anglophone relations (breakfast talk), Montreal, June 22

To mark the occasion of the Fête Nationale, the Association for Canadian Studies (ACS), Le Devoir, The Gazette, the Centre de recherche interdisciplinaire sur la diversité au Québec (CRIDAQ) and the Quebec Community Groups Network (QCGN) invite you to join us for a breakfast and panel discussion on the state of relations between Francophones and Anglophones in Quebec, June 22, 2009. Results from a detailed survey conducted by the firm Leger Marketing will be released that morning. The poll that deals with the condition of the French language and how Anglophones are viewed by the Francophone population will be the object of discussion by leading Quebec thinkers including Bernard Descoteaux, Publisher of Le Devoir; David Johnston of the Gazette; Jack Jedwab, Executive Director of ACS; and Alain Gagnon of the CRIDAQ. The event will take place at the Delta Hotel Montreal, 475 President Kennedy Avenue, in the Concerto room. Breakfast will be served at 8:00 a.m. and will be followed by the panel discussion from 8:30 a.m. to 10:00 a.m.

To register, please e-mail: James.ondrick@acs-aec.ca or call the ACS at \(514\) 925-3097. The registration fee is $35.00

- NEW LISTING: Irish heritage day, Ste. Agathe, July 4

At the Coirneal cealteach (Celtic corner) in Ste. Agathe (south of Quebec City), on July 4th, there will be a full day of community events to celebrate Irish heritage. Events include unveiling twenty new heritage commemoration signs, information on the history of local land ownership, a talk by Marianna O'Gallagher on the early Irish of Quebec, and fun events including games, a flea market and an evening of dancing to fiddle music! For information, see the attached document or contact Steve Cameron, 418-599-2814, tirnanog@netscape.ca.

Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network (QUESCREN) Newsletter
July 10, 2009

Hello everyone,

Not much news in the quiet summer season — a few notes below.

There will be no newsletter sent out for the next month. We'll start up again as the academic year picks up.

As always, in the interval, your news, questions and comments are welcome so please send them in!

1) NEWS

- Update on QUESCREN poverty research group

QUESCREN has hired Amy Miller to carry out background research to assess the state of research, initiatives and resources pertaining to poverty among English-speaking Quebecers. She will take into account rural and urban poverty across the province in her work.

Since I announced the creation of this research group in the last newsletter, I've heard from several people interested in joining or with resources to propose. Please contact Amy at atamyinmontreal@gmail.com if you have information on publications, groups or projects dedicated to working on poverty and Quebec English speakers, or other background information. For more information on the project itself, please contact Lorraine O'Donnell at lorraine.odonnell@concordia.ca.

- QUESCREN bibliography now sold through Concordia University bookstore

Brendan O'Donnell's Sources for the study of English-speaking Quebec: An annotated bibliography of works produced between 1990 and 2008 is now available through the Concordia University bookstore and can be ordered online. For information on the bibliography see below. To order, go to <http://bkstore.concordia.ca/services/search.asp?KEYWORD=brendan+o%27donnell&submit.x=0&submit.y=0&CAT=3&IMG=Y>

- Centre d'Études des francophones en flamande

Lorraine O'Donnell, coordinator-researcher of QUESCREN, recently met with Céline Préaux of the Centre d'Études des francophones en flamande. Mme Préaux indicated that there are many similarities in the situations of the French-speaking minority of Flanders and the English-speaking minority of Quebec. If you are interested in learning more, visit the Centre's website at <http://caira.over-blog.com/article-24163098.html>

2) ABOUT QUESCREN AND THIS EMAIL LIST

- QUESCREN's vision

The Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network (QUESCREN), a joint initiative of the Canadian Institute for Research on Linguistic Minorities and Concordia University's School of Extended Learning, is a dynamic alliance of researchers, community members and institutions dedicated to developing research capacity related to Quebec's English-speaking communities. For more information, please see www.connection-pointz.com.

- QUESCREN newsletter

This email bulletin is sent out to 162 addresses, several of which are groups. It reaches hundreds of individuals! - New: ACDPN and Montreal black families at risk

The African Canadian Development and Prevention Network, a coalition of Black community organizations in Montreal working to serve the prevention and social development needs of the Black English-speaking community of Montreal, is researching policy concerning English-speaking black families at risk in Montreal. If you are a professor or student interested on collaborating on the project, please contact Leith Hamilton at info@acdppnetwork.org <<mailto:info@acdppnetwork.org>> or 514-737-3213.

- Update: QUESCREN poverty research group

QUESCREN consultant Amy Miller has carried out over 20 interviews with people in the research, government and community group sectors in order to identify resources and initiatives pertaining to poverty in Quebec's English-speaking minority communities. If you have information on this subject, please contact Amy at amyinmontreal@gmail.com <<mailto:amyinmontreal@gmail.com>> . We look forward to reviewing her preliminary findings developing a research strategy this fall with the help of many supporters who have expressed an interest in this important initiative.

Bulletin du Réseau de recherche sur les communautés québécoises d'expression
anglaise (RRCQEA)
Le 14 septembre 2009

Chers membres,

Voici le bulletin complet pour l'année universitaire 2009-2010, que je vous souhaite fructueuse en recherches. J'espère également que nous aurons l'occasion de travailler ensemble à l'un ou l'autre des projets décrits ci-dessous.

N'hésitez pas à m'envoyer toute nouvelle concernant la recherche sur les communautés québécoises d'expression anglaise ou autres minorités linguistiques à lorraine.odonnell@concordia.ca <<mailto:lorraine.odonnell@concordia.ca>> .

Dans ce bulletin :

1. Projets de recherche
2. Appel de propositions : contrat de recherche
3. Activités
4. Ressources en ligne (échantillon)
5. Le RRCQEA et ses ressources

1. PROJETS DE RECHERCHE

- Nouveau : Groupe de recherche du RRCQEA en arts et culture

Le RRCQEA est heureux d'annoncer qu'il travaille à la création d'un nouveau groupe de recherche sur les arts et la culture, en partenariat avec le English Language Arts Network (ELAN, www.quebec-elan.org). Nous invitons les chercheurs, étudiants, groupes communautaires et toute autre personne intéressée à se joindre à nous pour élaborer des projets par la recherche sur l'écriture, le théâtre, la publication, le cinéma, la télévision, les arts visuels, la danse et la musique au sein des communautés minoritaires québécoises d'expression anglaise. Information : lorraine.odonnell@concordia.ca <<mailto:lorraine.odonnell@concordia.ca>>

- Nouveau : Le RDPAC et les familles noires à risque de Montréal

Le RDPAC (Réseau de développement et de prévention afro-canadiens), en collaboration avec des organismes communautaires montréalais visant à protéger et à répondre aux besoins de développement social de la communauté noire d'expression anglaise, recherche des politiques concernant les familles noires d'expression anglaise à risque vivant à Montréal. Les professeurs et étudiants souhaitant collaborer au projet sont priés de contacter Leith Hamilton à info@acdppnetwork.org <<mailto:info@acdppnetwork.org>> ou au 514 737-3213.

- Mise à jour : groupe de recherche du RRCQEA sur la pauvreté

Amy Miller, consultante du RRCQEA, a effectué plus de vingt entrevues avec des chercheurs, des membres du gouvernement ainsi que des groupes communautaires afin de déterminer les ressources et les initiatives touchant la pauvreté au sein des communautés minoritaires québécoises d'expression anglaise. Si vous avez des renseignements à ce sujet, veuillez communiquer avec elle à amyinmontreal@gmail.com <<mailto:amyinmontreal@gmail.com>> . Nous avons hâte de découvrir ses premiers résultats sur l'élaboration d'une stratégie de recherche cet automne, avec l'aide de nombreuses personnes qui ont témoigné leur intérêt pour cet important projet.

2. APPEL DE PROPOSITIONS : CONTRAT DE RECHERCHE

- Contrat : analyse documentaire sur l'immigration et la diversité ethnique chez les collectivités de langue officielle en situation minoritaire

Le projet Metropolis sollicite des chercheurs affiliés à un établissement postsecondaire canadien afin de procéder à une analyse documentaire sur l'immigration et la diversité ethnique chez les collectivités de langue officielle en situation minoritaire au Canada. « Les analyses mèneront à des conclusions pertinentes aux collectivités anglophones en situation minoritaire au Québec. » Le contrat sera d'une valeur maximale de 10 000 $. Échéance de remise de la proposition : 15 octobre 2009. Échéance de remise de l'analyse : 31 mars 2010. Information :

1. UPDATE: QUESCREN ACTIVITIES

- May 10-11: Acfas conference

We were very pleased with QUESCREN's first conference which took place on May 10-11 at the 78th Acfas (Association francophone pour le savoir) congress. Entitled "Communautés d'expression anglaise du Québec : enjeux actuels et tendances," its 10 sessions covered demographics, diversity, identity, history, education, knowledge transfer, literature, language, culture, health and social services, community development, Community Learning Centres, and poverty and economics. Thanks go to Drs. David Graham (Provost, Concordia University), Louise Dandurand (Vice-President, Research and Graduate Studies, Concordia University) and Rodrigue Landry (Executive Director, Canadian Institute for Research on Linguistic Minorities) for their opening remarks, to conference co-organiser Dr. Cheryl Gosselin (Bishop's University), to all the presenters and session moderators for their excellent contributions, and to our excellent conference coordinator, Patrick Donovan (PhD student, Laval University). To see the full conference program, go to http://www.acfas.net/programme/c\_78\_643.html QUESCREN is working with the Eastern Townships Resource Centre on a publication project.

- June 2: Conversation on university scholars and community-based research

Cheryl Gosselin of Bishop's University, member of QUESCREN's Research and Liaison Group, led a conversation entitled "What is the role of the university scholar in community-based research?" This event was part of the University of the Streets Café series and also an event of the Congress of the Social Sciences and Humanities that took place at Concordia University. Several dozen participants had a stimulating conversation on this timely topic.

- QUESCREN poverty research group

A meeting of the original members who started up this group a year ago was held on June 22 to plan future directions and activities. The group has grown over the months with over 50 people having attended our March 29 workshop. QUESCREN will convene a meeting of the larger group (including members from the Quebec Community Groups Network, the Community Health and Social Services Network, the Centre for Community Organizations, Concordia University, Carleton Centre for Community Innovation, UQAM, Université Laval, Norwich University (VT), the Anglican Church and CEDEC) in the fall. New members always welcome!

Information: lorraine.odonnell@concordia.ca <<mailto:lorraine.odonnell@concordia.ca>>

- QUESCREN arts and culture research group

We met again on May 6 and further refined our first research projet, for which we are currently seeking funding. Our goal is to develop research projects on writing, theatre, publishing, film and television, visual arts, dance and music within the QESC. Our membership is from the English Language Arts Network, the Quebec Community Groups Network, Accès Asie, Blue Metropolis Foundation and the Netagamiou Community Learning Centre as well as the Canadian Institute for Research on Linguistic Minorities, McGill University, Université de Sherbrooke and UQAM. New members welcome! To participate/for information: lorraine.odonnell@concordia.ca <<mailto:lorraine.odonnell@concordia.ca>>

2. QUESCEN IN THE NEWS

There was good media coverage of QUESCEN's conference at Acfas, including an article in Le Devoir: <http://www.ledevoir.com/societe/actualites-en-societe/288099/communautes-quebecoises-d-expression-anglaise-elles-sont-moins-riches-qu-on-ne-le-croit> <<http://www.ledevoir.com/societe/actualites-en-societe/288099/communautes-quebecoises-d-expression-anglaise-elles-sont-moins-riches-qu-on-ne-le-croit>>

Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network (QUESCREN) Newsletter October 18, 2010

1) Update: QUESCREN activities

- Ongoing: research project on immigrant settlement

The Canadian Institute for Research on Linguistic Minorities in partnership with QUESCREN continue to carry out preliminary research funded by the Metropolis Project on the subject of how Quebec's English-speaking communities help to "welcome" and settle new immigrants. If you have information on this subject please contact Lorraine O'Donnell at lorraine.odonnell@concordia.ca

2) Calls for papers

- Official Languages and bilingualism conference

The Official Languages and Bilingualism Institute (OLBI) and its research centre the CCERBAL are hosting a colloquium in Ottawa on 28 and 29 April 2011 on assessment and evaluation, incorporating assessment of second language learning, evaluation of language training programs, and evaluation of language policies and public programs related to official languages. Seeking proposals for individual papers and symposia (panels). Deadline: 17 December. Information: Josee Legare josee@uottawa.ca <<mailto:josee@uottawa.ca>>

- Health conference

The 4th Colloque international des programmes locaux et régionaux de santé will be held 27-30 June 2011 in Ottawa-Gatineau. Call for papers deadline: 30 November 2010. Information: <http://plrs-ottawa2011.com/accueil.html>

3) Calls for participation

- Information needed: Montreal's Anglophone community organizations post-1980

Belgian researcher Céline Préaux is studying Montreal's English-speaking community groups after the 1980 referendum, with a focus on their legal actions to obtain revisions to Bill 101. Please contact celine\_preaux@hotmail.com if you have information on: Participation Québec, Alliance Quebec, Positive Action Committee, Anglophone Committee for a United Quebec, Freedom of Choice Movement and the Council of Quebec Minorities; other groups active around the issue of Bill 101 post-1980; names/contact information of people involved in these groups; leads for pertinent archival documentation; titles of relevant publications.

- COCo Community Impact Survey

Have you or your group collaborated or worked with COCo (Centre for Community Organizations) before? COCo is seeking groups like yours to participate in a Community Impact Survey to better understand your needs and how COCo can endeavour to meet them head on. Information: Chris at chrisl@coco-net.org <<mailto:chrisl@coco-net.org>> .

- Community group mapping project

COCo (Centre for Community Organizations) has an "In the Know" community research project underway. It maps English-speaking, bilingual and ethnocultural community groups in order to develop a portrait of the diversity of community groups working for social change in Quebec. Relevant groups from Outaouais, Laurentians, Lanaudière, Montérégie, Abitibi-Témiscamingue and Quebec City regions are requested to go to www.coco-net.org/survey <http://r20.rs6.net/tn.jsp?llr=lg8jo9cab&et=1103666534545&s=2454&e=001O30-DZWd-J40WSSFiL6ueM7mplLwuURnSjkGb2aEE8PplpDVtdjnco21C\_APrmhpeAPv45uh3z64u6KZ4CPVIJOTbyUeDKpZoDUh7-7nU-UuMCcR50878uiLUwOym9z> to provide information about their group and COCo will add them to the map. Information: <http://www.coco-net.org/en/node/237> <<http://www.coco-net.org/en/node/237>> or contact Sarah at sarahb@coco-net.org <<mailto:sarahb@coco-net.org>> .

- Historical mapping project

A new wiki-based website provides a geographically organized catalogue of historical locations, telling the whole story of each Point Of Interest (POI). The organizers request participation from the public. This project may interest people organizing history, heritage, tourism and community development projects. Information: Sextant.org

- Lachine Canal history project

Parks Canada, in collaboration with Concordia University's Centre for Oral History and Digital Storytelling, is launching an appeal to everyone with personal memories or stories relating to the Lachine Canal. Information: www.pc.gc.ca/eng/lhn-nhs/qc/canallachine/ne/ne6.aspx

4) Researchers available

- Community work opportunities sought for students

Concordia University's Graduate Diploma in Community Economic Development Program invites community organizations to submit requests for experienced students to work on community projects. The project should occur approximately between January and June 2011, require of students a high skill level and engagement (120- 150 hrs) and involve students in working on an issue or challenge in community work. One student or a small team may work on each project. For more information and to discuss opportunities, please contact Dr Eric Shragge, School of Community and Public Affaire, Concordia University- 514.848.2424 #2576, ericsh@alcor.concordia.ca <<mailto:ericsh@alcor.concordia.ca>>

5) Research projects underway

- Historical diversity of Quebec

"Diversity, cross-cultural relations and integration: A socio-demographic and demo-genetic study of the Quebec population, 1760-1940." Examines the composition and diversity of the non-aboriginal population of Quebec and the history of cross-cultural relations 1760-1940. Based on nominal census manuscripts and marriage records, it examines ethnic diversity, mixing and integration. Researchers: Danielle Gauvreau and Patricia Thornton (Concordia University) and Hélène Vézina (UQAC). ## Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network (QUESCREN) Newsletter November 23, 2010

Update: QUESCREN activities

- QUESCREN's Advisory Council

QUESCREN is governed by both a Research and Liaison Group (for a list of its members, see www.quescren.ca/node/48 <<http://www.quescren.ca/node/48>> ), and an Advisory Council. The latter met for the first time in October. It has over twenty members representing a range of organizations and institutions from the community, academic and government sectors. This diverse group began identifying QESC research priorities and helping guide QUESCREN in responding to the priorities through research support, knowledge transfer, developing tools such as resource lists, etc.

- Acfas 2011

Along with the Eastern Townships Resource Centre (Bishop's University), QUESCREN is organising our second annual scholarly research conference at the Association francophone pour le savoir (Acfas) congress taking place May 9-13, 2011. This year, we are working in partnership with both the Townshippers' Association and the Équipe de recherche interuniversitaire sur la littérature anglo-québécoise for this exciting event. Our call for papers will be out soon.

- Ongoing: research project on immigrant settlement

The Canadian Institute for Research on Linguistic Minorities in partnership with QUESCREN continue to carry out preliminary research funded by the Metropolis Project on the subject of how Quebec's English-speaking communities help to "welcome" and settle new immigrants. If you have information on this subject please contact Lorraine O'Donnell at lorraine.odonnell@concordia.ca

2. Calls for papers

Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network (QUESCREN) Newsletter
February 28, 2011

1) Update: QUESCREN activities

· Completed: Seminar on Anglophones and Quebec history

QUESCREN co-organized a seminar entitled "What place should Anglophones have in Quebec's collective narrative?" It took place February 11 at Concordia University and was a success with lively discussion and many viewpoints from ten speakers and discussants and 90 audience members.

Program: http://icrml.ca/index.php?option=com\_content&task=view&id=402&Itemid=133 <http://icrml.ca/index.php?option=com\_content&task=view&id=402&Itemid=133> . Media reports: www.nationalpost.com/news/LOST+ANGLO/4313947/story.html <<http://www.nationalpost.com/news/LOST+ANGLO/4313947/story.html>> and www.montrealgazette.com/story\_print.html?id=4312240&sponsor <http://www.montrealgazette.com/story\_print.html?id=4312240&sponsor> =

· In progress: Lunch & Learn

Quebec Community Groups Network and QUESCREN are co-organizing a pilot knowledge transfer project. Researchers Marie-Odile Magnan of Université de Montréal, Don de Guerre of Concordia University and Brigitte Chavez of Statistics Canada are informally presenting their latest work to QCGN member groups and staff using internet technology.

· In progress: QUESCREN's online bibliography

There are now 2,500 new titles on many topics listed in our bibliography of sources on the English-speaking communities of Quebec, thanks to the efforts of volunteer Brendan O'Donnell. Please visit it and let us know what you think: www.quescren.ca/biblio-en/ <<http://www.quescren.ca/biblio-en/>>

· Upcoming: conference on Montreal's English-speaking heritage

The "Ways of Memory: The Montreal Experience" conference organized by QAHN and partners including QUESCREN takes place March 26. See the event listing below.

· Upcoming: interdisciplinary conference at Acfas

QUESCREN and partners are organizing an interdisciplinary conference on May 10-11. See the event listing below.

Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network (QUESCREN) Newsletter May 2, 2011

1. Update: QUESCREN activities

· Second mandate for QUESCREN

Concordia University's School of Extended Learning, the Canadian Institute for Research on Linguistic Minorities and Canadian Heritage have agreed to provide support to the Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network project until 2013. QUESCREN was established in 2008.

· QUESCREN at Acfas, May 10-11

QUESCREN and partners have organized an exciting second annual conference of research on Quebec's English-speaking communities at the Acfas congress. Themes include the Eastern Townships, history, education and identity, literature, language, socio-economics, health and social services.

Program: www.acfas.net/programme/c\_79\_641.html <http://www.acfas.net/programme/c\_79\_641.html>

· Ongoing: CIRLM-QUESCREN education research initiative

Under the leadership of Réal Allard (Université de Moncton) and Rodrigue Landry (Canadian Institute for Research on Linguistic Minorities), QUESCREN is supporting a project investigating post-secondary intentions of upper-level students in Quebec's English-language public high schools.

· Ongoing: Lunch and Learn pilot project, Winter/spring 2011

The Quebec Community Groups Network and QUESCREN held two pilot Lunch and Learn activities, with scholars presenting research to QCGN members via telephone and internet technology in informal lunchtime talks. Marie-Odile Magnan (Université de Montréal) spoke on "English-speaking youth, education and sense of identity" and Don de Guerre (Concordia University) presented his community research development initiative called "Eastern Townships Search Conference." A third presentation by Brigitte Chavez (Statistics Canada) has been postponed.

· Completed: OLA forum, March 9

QUESCREN attended an Office of the Commissioner of Official Languages forum called "Implementing Part VII of the Official Languages Act: Knowledge, Dialogue, Action" in Ottawa. Part VII sets out the Government of Canada's commitment to supporting and assisting the development of official language minority communities. Information on Part VII: www.ocol-clo.gc.ca/html/act\_loi\_e.php <http://www.ocol-clo.gc.ca/html/act\_loi\_e.php>

· Completed: "Ways of Memory" conference, held March 26

The "Ways of Memory" conference on the heritage of Montreal's English-speakers, organized by Quebec Anglophone Heritage Network in partnership with QUESCREN and other groups, was a great learning and networking opportunity. Read about it at these links:

2. Research associates sought

· New ethnohistorical research project

Robin Dods, an Associate Professor of Anthropology and Archaeology at University of British Columbia, is seeking associates to co-develop a Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council grant proposal for ethnohistorical research on the English speaking peoples of Irish, Scottish and English origins who settled three areas of Quebec. She writes, "I would like this to be a multi-site study of three areas - each distinct on the basis of time and circumstances of settlement but nonetheless interlinked through specific social institutions."

News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

MONDAY 31 OCTOBER

Dear QUESCREN members,

Thank you for your positive feedback on the new look of this newsletter! Please send any suggestions for improvements so it is as useful to you as possible.

We're always seeking new QUESCREN members. Please send me names of people/groups who might like to be on this list. I will not put them on it without asking their permission first.

Also, send in your information on grants, courses, projects, publications and events related to research on the English-speaking communities of Quebec. More than 500 readers will receive this news.

Regards,

Lorraine O'Donnell, Ph.D.

QUESCREN UPDATE

In a June 2011 speech, Graham Fraser, Canada's Commissioner of Official Languages, said the following about our February 2011 research event on the place of Anglophones in Quebec's collective narrative : "the simple fact that this seminar was held is a sign of progress. Perhaps times have changed, and Quebec is ready to rediscover forgotten parts of its history through the experiences and stories of its English-speaking communities. Revisiting the positive aspects of the English-speaking community's role in Quebec's history seems like an excellent opportunity to shed new light on social perceptions and to move forward as a society."

News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

TUESDAY 10 JANUARY

News of research on Quebec's English-speaking communities

Hello QUESCREN members,

Happy New Year!

In past years, many researchers have devoted efforts to studying the English-speaking communities of Quebec (ESCQ) and their individual members, organizations and institutions, in all of their regional and ethnic diversity and over the history of the province.

I invite you to take a look at QUESCREN's lists of the resultant publications. The menu on the right provides subject access to recent titles (listed below) that have been brought to our attention; thousands produced in past years can be found in Brendan O'Donnell's online bibliography. A more thorough version is available in three volumes produced by QUESCREN and the Eastern Townships Resource Centre.

ESCQ research is also disseminated in conferences, courses and other events, and supported through scholarships and funding. The right-hand menu also gives you access to news of these resources.

All the best,

In April, Lorraine O'Donnell, coordinator-researcher of QUESCREN, along with Concordia University Provost David Graham, presented a brief to the House of Commons Standing Committee on Official Languages. Here are a description and the full minutes.

Along with the Eastern Townships Resource Centre, QUESCREN hosted its third annual research conference at the Association francophone pour le savoir in May. There was lots of discussion around important issues such as defining community, using qualitative studies for understanding the ESCQ, and effects of Quebec state policy on the communities. We'll post a report and PowerPoints later in the summer.

News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

FRIDAY 14 SEPTEMBER

News of research on Quebec's English-speaking communities, September 2012

Dear QUESCREN members,

Here is the September 2012 issue of the Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network (QUESCREN) newsletter.

I invite new and long-time newsletter recipients to send me information about projects, jobs, events, publications, websites and other resources related to research on Quebec's English-speaking communities. I will communicate it in an upcoming newsletter. The QUESCREN newsletter is your forum to share your updates with 550 others interested in ESCQ research.

The right-hand menu on this page provides quick links to the newsletter below. Enjoy!

Dr. Susan W. Hardwick, Professor of Geography at University of Oregon, is leading a project called "Heading North: American Migration, Settlement and 'Belonging' in Canada: 1960-2012." Its aim is to document and analyze the location patterns, migration experiences, shifting identities and 'sense of belonging' of American immigrants in Canada and Quebec during the past five decades. During this period, Montreal emerged as a critically important gateway for new immigrants from the US and other parts of the world. Dr. Hardwick is particularly interested in learning more about the decision-making and 'sense of belonging' of these "invisible" immigrants in Francophone Canada. Please contact her by email if you have suggestions to assist in her research on this topic.

→ Lower North Shore Development

The "Building Knowledge and Engagement Towards Sustainable Economic Development on the Lower North Shore: a Concordia University (School of Extended Learning) and Lower North Shore Partnership Initiative" project aims to help develop some of Quebec's most remote English-speaking communities. They are located in isolated fishing villages without road access in the Lower North Shore (LNS) area of the St Lawrence River. Ms. Ana Osborne is helping to organize the project in her role as local Community Learning Centre coordinator. She extends an invitation to all who may be interested in researching aspects of the project (its development and issues) or otherwise provide support to contact her by email.

News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

WEDNESDAY 31 OCTOBER

News of research on Quebec's English-speaking communities, October 2012

Hello QUESCREN members,

I'm pleased to send you the October newsletter of the Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network. The right-hand menu provides subject access to this month's research news.

The newsletter is sent out to over 550 readers from the research, community and government sectors. I appreciate that many of you are sending in information of projects underway, resources including publications, grants, and events related to research on Quebec Anglophones. Please continue to do so!

Campaign Monitor, the platform for this newsletter, allows us to obtain information and statistics about patterns in newsletter readership. The information we collect may be used to create aggregate readership profiles for the purpose of evaluating the newsletter. Campaign Monitor's privacy policy is available here (in English only). If you have questions on our use of this software, please contact me.

Regards,

QUESCREN UPDATE

Back To Top

→ QUESCREN 2008-2012

QUESCREN is now four years old! The coordinator-researcher started work in October 2008, and the Network was officially launched in April 2009.

QUESCREN is a joint initiative of Concordia University's School of Extended Learning, located in Montreal, and the Canadian Institute for Research on Linguistic Minorities, located in Moncton, NB. You can read about QUESCREN's past activities in CIRLM's annual reports including the one for 2011-12, recently put online. These detail the publications, conferences and other activities in which QUESCREN's coordinator-researcher has participated, often in partnership with community and academic groups from Quebec.

Back To Top

→ Bibliography update

QUESCREN's online bibliography of published sources on English-speaking Quebec now contains the full contents of volumes 2 and 3 of Brendan O'Donnell's published bibliographies, described below in the "Resources – General" section. It also contains more than two thousand other titles, for a total of 6,600 titles. Brendan is now working on adding the contents of volume 1, which covers publications that appeared before 1980.

Back To Top

→ Acfas

QUESCREN, in partnership with the Eastern Township Resource Centre and in collaboration with the Équipe de recherche interuniversitaire sur la littérature anglo-québécoise, has held three multidisciplinary conferences at the annual Association francophone pour le savoir (Acfas) congresses. These took place in 2010, 2011 and 2012.

QUESCREN would like to inform its members that we will not be co-organizing a 2013 conference for Acfas. QUESCREN's current funding cycle ends March 31, 2013, and Acfas takes place only after this date (May 2013).

The 150th anniversary celebrations of Canadian Confederation are coming up in 2017. The House of Commons Standing Committee on Official Languages is considering the subject of linguistic duality at these events. The Committee invited Quebec Community Groups

Network to provide input in this process. QUESCREN coordinator-researcher Dr. Lorraine O'Donnell accepted QCGN's invitation to appear with their representative, Policy Director Stephen Thompson, before the Committee. Minutes, transcripts and an audio recording of this hearing are available online.

QUESCREN is a joint initiative of Concordia University's School of Extended Learning and the Canadian Institute for Research on Linguistic Minorities in Moncton. In 2011, the House of Commons Standing Committee on Official Languages worked on evaluating existing federal strategy on official languages and providing guidance for future initiatives in this area. QUESCREN coordinator-researcher Lorraine O'Donnell and her Concordia University colleague David Graham accepted invitations from the Committee to provide evidence on the subject on April 26, 2012. To read and hear minutes and evidence of this hearing (Meeting 38), click here.

Their evidence, along with that of other witnesses including CIRLM's Executive Director Éric Forgues, has been incorporated into the recommendations regarding official languages research that the Committee made in its report. ## News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

THURSDAY 31 JANUARY

News of research on Quebec's English-speaking communities, January 2013

Hello QUESCREN members,

I'm pleased to be sending you the first newsletter for 2013 of the Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network. The right-hand menu provides subject access to this month's research news.

Under the "Resources" section below are listed many publications related to Quebec's Anglophones. If you need help obtaining any of them, don't hesitate to email me asking for assistance.

This newsletter is sent out to about 560 readers from the research, community and government sectors. I appreciate that many of you are sending in news of projects underway, resources including publications, grants, and events related to research on Quebec Anglophones. Please continue to do so!

Kind regards,

Lorraine

News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

THURSDAY 28 MARCH

News of research on Quebec's English-speaking communities, March 2013

Hello QUESCREN members,

I'm pleased to be sending you the March newsletter of the Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network. The right-hand menu provides subject access to this month's research news.

Under the "Resources" section below are listed many publications related to Quebec's Anglophones. If you need help obtaining any of them, don't hesitate to email me asking for assistance.

This newsletter is sent out to some 590 readers from the research, community and government sectors. I appreciate that many of you are sending in news of projects underway, resources including publications, grants, and events related to research on Quebec Anglophones. Please continue to do so!

Kind regards,

Lorraine

QUESCREN and partners the Canadian Institute for Research on Linguistic Minorities and the Quebec Community Groups Network co-organized two well-attended events at the recent Metropolis conference entitled "Building an Integrated Society." Presenters and moderators included David Birnbaum, Richard Bourhis, Martin Durand, Jean-Sébastien Jolin-Gignac, Sylvia Martin-Laforge, Lorraine O'Donnell, Juan-Carlos Quintana, Patricia Rlmok, Anne Robineau, Karen Urtnowski and Michèle Vatz-Laaroussi. The events helped build research capacity on the little-studied question of immigration and the English-speaking communities. For details, see the conference program pages 23 and 33.

Lorraine O'Donnell, QUESCREN coordinator-researcher, is discussant at another, upcoming conference on immigration on May 10, 2013. For details, see "Events" below.

News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

FRIDAY 26 JULY

News of research on Quebec's English-speaking communities, July 2013

Hello QUESCREN members,

I'm pleased to be sending you the July newsletter of the Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network. The right-hand menu provides subject access to this month's research news.

This newsletter is sent out to some 580 readers from the research, community and government sectors. Please continue to send me your news to share of projects underway, resources including publications, grants, and events related to research on Quebec Anglophones.

Kind regards,
Lorraine

→ Immigrants

QUESCREN coordinator-researcher Lorraine O'Donnell is a research collaborator with the Équipe de recherche en partenariat sur la diversité culturelle et l'immigration dans la région de Québec (ÉDIQ). In that capacity, she was commentator at a May, 2013 ÉDIQ conference for a session entitled "Des interactions qui bousculent les identités. Comment penser l'appartenance?" Among the session presenters was Jean-Sebastien Jolin-Gignac of the community organization Voice of English-speaking Quebec, speaking on "The Quebec City way et les nouveaux arrivants à Québec : convaincre les différentes instances d'investir dans l'intégration et la rétention des immigrants anglophones."

Also for ÉDIQ, Lorraine O'Donnell wrote an article on ESCQ diversity and poverty: "La diversité, la pauvreté et le capitale historique et social des communautés d'expression anglaise du Québec." It has been published in Michèle Vatz Laaroussi, Estelle Bernier et Lucille Guilbert (dir.), Les collectivités locales au coeur de l'intégration des immigrants (Quebec: Les Presses de l'Université Laval, 2013).

→ Seniors

The Quebec Community Groups Network research project on English-speaking seniors, which has QUESCREN as a partner, is moving ahead well. Funded by the Quebec government, the team has completed the design of a far-reaching survey on seniors' needs; it will be administered in coming months by other seniors, as part of our participatory approach. ## SURVEY: USING ENGLISH AND FRENCH IN HEALTH SETTINGS

Dr. Norman Segalowitz sent the following invitation to QUESCREN members:

I am collaborating with Dr. Andrew Ryder (Concordia) and Dr. Estelle Chamoux (Bishops) in a study on people's experience and feelings about communicating in English and French in health settings ("Language and Health Survey"). The study has been fully approved by the research ethics board at Concordia.

The study is online, takes about 45 minutes, and is confidential. Also, you become eligible to win a $100 prize. The prizes are arranged so that the sooner you enter, the greater your chances of winning.

This study is part of a larger program of research looking at language barriers in the delivery of health services.

I also encourage you to invite friends, family and neighbours to take part. You can forward this message with the link in it. Participants must be at least 18 years old, have English as a first or dominant language, and be able to speak at least a few sentences in French. We are hoping to attract a large sample of participants as quickly as possible.

To start the survey, simply click here.

You can also reach the survey at <http://cielmontreal.ca/healthsurvey> (type this URL into your browser).

Many thanks. We really appreciate your help!

News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

WEDNESDAY 9 OCTOBER

Dear QUESCREN members,

For a fourth time, QUESCREN is co-organizing a research conference on Quebec's English-speaking communities to take place at the annual Acfas congress and once again, I am writing informally to ask QUESCREN members if you would consider participating in it. If you are interested, please let me know by Friday, October 18, 2013. The formal call for papers comes later.

See below for details.

Sincerely,

Lorraine O'Donnell

CALL FOR PARTICIPATION: ACFAS 2014

Background

The Acfas (Association francophone pour le savoir) congresses are important events that bring together hundreds of subject-specific conferences, including ours. Many of these conferences focus on Quebec and most are in French only. Next year's congress will be held on May 12 to 16, 2014 at Concordia University in Montreal. Information on the congress is here.

QUESCREN's 2010, 2011 and 2012 Acfas conferences were groundbreaking. They were co-organized with the Eastern Townships Resource Centre and the Équipe de recherche interuniversitaire sur la littérature anglo-qubécoise as well as community partners including the Quebec Community Groups Network and Townshippers' Association. Many academic, government and community-based researchers presented papers crossing disciplines but all related to the history and current situation of Quebec's English-speaking communities.

The 2014 conference

The 2014 conference co-organizers are Drs. Lorraine O'Donnell, Coordinator-Researcher of QUESCREN and Anne Robineau, Assistant Director of the Canadian Institute for Research on Linguistic Minorities. The program committee consists of Drs. Cheryl Gosselin and Paul Zanazanian, professors at Bishop's University and McGill University respectively, and Anne and Lorraine.

Title of 2014 conference

Diversity and Quebec's English-speaking communities: Negotiating inclusion and mobilizing resources

Description of 2014 conference

QUESCREN and its partners have held three Acfas conferences to date on the subject of Quebec's English-speaking communities (ESCQ), which form a language minority within Quebec and an official language minority of Canada. These events presented the latest research and developed research capacity through the establishment and reinforcement of ties between researchers and research partners. Furthermore, the subjects of ESCQ institutions, networks and resources all sparked fruitful discussion and debate concerning their development and role in Quebec society.

However, there can be no denying that these communities must operate in a changing political context while also dealing with the ethnic, religious, linguistic and geographic diversity of its members, not to mention issues of differentiation relating to social class and gender. Significant gaps continue to persist between the sociodemographic characteristics of the ESCQ, the social representations of Anglophones among the Francophone majority, and the definitions set out in federal and provincial laws and couched in terms of minority, community (or communities), or individuals for whom English is their mother tongue or the first official language spoken. Thus, notwithstanding the desire of members of the ESCQ to define themselves as Quebecers, they have been continually compelled to renegotiate their identity (or identities) and their inclusion in Quebec society. Aside from the discomfort arising from this situation, a number of genuine issues have emerged in respect of mobilizing the resources required to offer and adapt services for these communities. Indeed, community building and identity and renewal have been identified as key ESCQ concerns at the 2012 Quebec Community Groups Network Strategic Priorities Forum.

It follows that this year's theme will be diversity, in relation to inclusion and the mobilization of resources. From the vantage point of researchers and community players, how can knowledge about these communities serve to meet the challenges of inclusion and resource mobilization? What strategies could be developed in order to satisfy the needs of the ESCQ while also contributing to the development of Quebec society and aiding it to address its own challenges of inclusion and francization?

Like its predecessors, this conference will be a great opportunity to meet, share knowledge and further develop our research interests.

Your potential participation in the 2014 conference

We are currently developing our 2014 conference proposal that we will send to Acfas in November. For this proposal, we need the names of several potential participants.

Would you consider participating in this conference? Would you like to present a paper or organize a panel around a subject area? Would you like to participate in or organize a workshop or round-table? Do you have other ideas to making this conference theme work for you?

Please let us know, by writing Lorraine O'Donnell (Lorraine.odonnell@concordia.ca), cc'd to Anne Robineau (anne.robineau@umoncton.ca), by Friday, October 18, 2013 with the following information:

- Your name and job title
- The nature of your possible participation: an individual presentation (paper) or a session (group of presentations, round-table or workshop)
- The subject of your presentation or session, with a title if possible
- Whether the focus will be on: a research project; a community-based participatory or action research project; or another type of community-based initiative (eg., an arts or economic development project)

Regarding the formal call for papers (winter 2013-14)

A formal call for paper (presentation) proposals for this conference will follow in a few months. At that point, the program committee will evaluate each proposal for inclusion in the conference program.

Note on the language of our conference

Presentations in French are preferable, given that Acfas is a French-language venue. Authors presenting in spoken English will be requested to provide written titles and summaries in French before the conference date, and a written support (eg., PowerPoint presentation or handout) in French on the conference date. The conference organizers will be pleased to help provide English-to-French translation of this material.

→ Seniors

The Building Research Capacity Related to Quebec's English-speaking Seniors project is moving forward well. This is a project of the Quebec Community Groups Network (QCGN) with support from QUESCREN. Some highlights:

-- In September, several team members participated in the 2nd international conference on age-friendly cities: Living and aging together in our community in Quebec City. Celine Cooper with support from Joanne Pocock and Lorraine O'Donnell gave a presentation entitled “Living and aging as a minority linguistic group in Quebec: Building research capacity related to Quebec's English-speaking seniors.”

-- Also starting in September, seniors trained through the project are conducting surveys in several regions of the province.

Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

FRIDAY 20 DECEMBER

CALL FOR PAPERS

For a QUESCREN-CIRLM conference entitled

Diversity and Quebec's English-speaking communities: Negotiating inclusion and mobilizing resources

May 12-16, 2014

82e Congrès de l'Acfas, Concordia University

Keynote speaker: Dr. Daniel Weinstock

CONFERENCE DESCRIPTION

QUESCREN and its partners have held three Acfas conferences to date on the subject of Quebec's English-speaking communities (ESCQ), which form a language minority within Quebec and an official language minority of Canada. These events presented the latest research and developed research capacity through the establishment and reinforcement of ties between researchers and research partners. Furthermore, the subjects of ESCQ institutions, networks and resources all sparked fruitful discussion and debate concerning their development and role in Quebec society.

However, there can be no denying that these communities must operate in a changing political context while also dealing with the ethnic, religious, linguistic and geographic diversity of its members, not to mention issues of differentiation relating to social class and gender. Significant gaps continue to persist between the sociodemographic characteristics of the ESCQ, the social representations of Anglophones among the Francophone majority, and the definitions set out in federal and provincial laws and couched in terms of minority, community (or communities), or individuals for whom English is their mother tongue or the first official language spoken. Thus, notwithstanding the desire of members of the ESCQ to define themselves as Quebecers, they have been continually compelled to renegotiate their identity (or identities) and their inclusion in Quebec society. Aside from the discomfort arising from this situation, a number of genuine issues have emerged in respect of mobilizing the resources required to offer and adapt services for these communities. For example, community development, identity building and their renewal have been identified as key ESCQ concerns at the 2012 Quebec Community Groups Network Strategic Priorities Forum.

It follows that this year's theme will be diversity, in relation to inclusion and the mobilization of resources (education, health, culture, media etc.). From the vantage point of researchers and community players, how can knowledge about these communities serve to meet the challenges of inclusion and resource mobilization? What strategies could be developed in order to satisfy the needs of the ESCQ while also contributing to the development of Quebec society and aiding it to address its own challenges of inclusion and francization? Which perspectives does research provide when it considers the different actors involved in resource mobilization for the ESCQ? How is this mobilization perceived throughout Quebec society? Do the ESCQ have their own model or models for integration and managing diversity? Are these part of the broader Quebec model?

Like its predecessors, this conference will be a great opportunity to meet, share knowledge and further develop our research interests.

CONFERENCE GOALS

- 1) To maintain our expertise on the subject of Quebec's English-speaking communities by offering researchers, deciders and community organizers the opportunity to discuss research issues related to this population. This conference builds on QUESCREN's previous Acfas conferences that helped establish "ESCQ studies" as a field of research. The 2014 conference will bring together previous and new participants, fostering networking and supporting the development of the next generation of researchers.
- 2) To inform the French-speaking research community of issues relating to the diversity (ethnic, linguistic, regional, economic and cultural) of Quebec's English-speaking communities, and reflect on measures that can contribute to their social development.
- 3) To contribute to French-language scientific research in Quebec.

4) To promote community-university collaboration.

BACKGROUND: THE ACFAS CONGRESS

The QUESCREN/CIRLM event is part of the annual Association francophone pour le savoir (Acfas) congress. Acfas congresses are important events that bring together hundreds of subject-specific conferences, including ours. Many of these conferences focus on Quebec and most are in French only. Next year's congress will be held on May 12 to 16, 2014 at Concordia University in Montreal. Information on the congress is here.

QUESCREN's conferences at the 2010, 2011 and 2012 Acfas congresses were ground-breaking. They were co-organized with the Eastern Township Resource Centre and the Équipe de recherche interuniversitaire sur la littérature anglo-qubécoise as well as community partners including the Quebec Community Groups Network and Townshippers' Association. Many academic, government and community-based researchers presented papers crossing disciplines but all related to the history and current situation of Quebec's English-speaking communities.

CONFERENCE ORGANIZERS

Lorraine O'Donnell, Coordinator-Researcher of Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network (QUESCREN) and Anne Robineau, Assistant Director of the Canadian Institute for Research on Linguistic Minorities (CIRLM).

YOUR PARTICIPATION IN THE 2014 CONFERENCE

Researchers, professors, students, community organizers and policy makers are warmly invited to propose an individual paper (presentation) or a session grouping together three or four papers around a specific theme. Please follow these guidelines for each paper proposal:

- Name, job title, organisation, email address of paper presenter
- Text of approximately 400 words including the following elements if applicable: 1) title of paper 2) subject of research; 3) methodology; 4) brief presentation of results; 5) short bibliography (max. 1 page) supporting the proposal; 6) brief biography (5 lines).

Please send your proposal in electronic format by Saturday, February 1, 2014 to the following email address: lorraine.odonnell@concordia.ca For information, contact Lorraine O'Donnell, Coordinator-researcher, QUESCREN, or Anne Robineau, anne.robineau@umoncton.ca.

EVALUATION OF PROPOSALS

A scientific committee composed of Drs. Lorraine O'Donnell, Anne Robineau, Cheryl Gosselin and Paul Zanazanian will evaluate proposals. Authors of proposals retained by the committee will be informed by email in mid-February.

LANGUAGE OF PRESENTATION

The conference organizers will be pleased to help provide English-to-French translation of conference material, given that Acfas is a French-language venue.

PUBLICATION OF CONFERENCE PROCEEDINGS

The conference organizers will be exploring options for publishing conference proceedings if there is an interest on the part of the presenters.

ABOUT ATTENDING THE ACFAS CONGRESS

The QUESCREN/CIRLM event is part of the annual Association francophone pour le savoir (Acfas) congress. Presenters will be required to register and pay entrance fees that give access to the entire congress. For information: www.acfas.ca.

1) Our upcoming Acfas conference

We are pleased to announce that the Association francophone pour le savoir (Acfas) has accepted our proposal for a conference to take place at the annual Acfas congress on May 12-13, 2014 at Concordia. Our conference is called “Diversity and Quebec’s English-speaking communities: Negotiating inclusion and mobilizing resources.” There is still time to submit a presentation proposal – please see our call for papers.

2) QCGN Submits Immigration Related Research Principles and Priorities to CIC

Note to members: Quebec Community Groups Network requested that we communicate the following message:

Citizenship Immigration Canada (CIC) has established a $2.5 million research fund as part Canada’s Roadmap for Official Languages 2013-2018. Although no specific amounts have been set aside for individual OL communities, the QCGN’s efforts over the past five years have ensured an increased commitment towards the ESCQ from CIC, and we expect the amount of research investment directed towards our community to increase significantly over the span of this Roadmap. In anticipation of this, the Department approached the Quebec Community Groups Network (QCGN) as the English-speaking Community of Quebec’s strategic representative in 2013, to obtain community research priorities that would be used in evaluating research proposals. The following principles and priorities - developed with stakeholders including QUESCREN - were approved by the QCGN Board of Directors and transmitted to CIC on December 13, 2013:

Principles:

1. Funded research should be tied to practical objectives that provide identifiable, concrete, and direct benefit to the ESCQ and Quebec;
2. Research should have a secondary effect of strengthening the community by fostering greater collaboration and networking among English-speaking organizations and the broader community, leveraging resources, and sharing and developing expertise that will make the community stronger; and,

3. Research should advance a practical agenda for economic improvement; family support; and, encouraging the integration of English-speaking newcomers to Quebec through the institutions of the ESCQ.

The ESCQ research priorities related to immigration:

1. The role ESCQ institutions play in the social, political, and economic integration of newcomers into Quebec society;
2. The contribution newcomers make to the vitality of the ESCQ;
3. The economic impact of English-speaking newcomers to Quebec;
4. Opportunities for English-speaking newcomers to Quebec;
5. Quebec English-speaking newcomer outcomes (economic, social, political); and,
6. The role of newcomer integration as a tool for bridging the ESCQ with the majority.

Researchers are encouraged to take note of these principles and priorities when developing proposals for funding from this programme.

News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

MONDAY 17 MARCH

INVITATIONS

May 12-13, 2014: QUESCREN-CIRLM conference on diversity in Quebec's English-speaking communities

You are warmly invited to attend the upcoming QUESCREN-CIRLM conference "Diversity and Quebec's English-speaking communities: Negotiating inclusion and mobilizing resources." It takes place May 12-13, 2014 at Concordia University as part of the large Association francophone pour le savoir (Acfas) congress. On May 12, Dr. Daniel Weinstock, McGill University, will deliver a keynote address entitled "The Paradoxical Fate of Quebec's English Community." Note that much of this conference will take place in French and that you must register with Acfas to attend. Links: conference program and registration information (both in French). Early-bird rates available until March 31.

March 28-29, 2014: Quebec Past and Present – 2nd International and domestic colloquium on Quebec studies

In cooperation with Bishop's University and State University of New York College at Plattsburgh, the Eastern Townships Resource Centre (ETRC) cordially invites you to: "Quebec Past and Present – 2nd International and domestic colloquium on Quebec studies" March 28 – 29, 2014 on the Bishop's Campus. Scholars from the United States, the province of Quebec and of course from Bishop's University will present their latest research during this multidisciplinary colloquium. The colloquium offers panels on Cultural Identity, Education, International Relations, Economy and History. Information.

News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

MONDAY 28 APRIL

News of research on Quebec's English-speaking communities, April 2014

Hello QUESCREN members,

I'm pleased to be sending you the April newsletter of the Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network. The right-hand menu provides subject access to this quarter's research news.

This newsletter is sent out to about 580 readers from the research, community and government sectors. Please continue to send me your news to share of projects, resources and events related to research on Quebec Anglophones.

Kind regards,

Lorraine O'Donnell

→ Diversity, immigration

QUESCREN is pleased to announce Citizen and Immigration Canada support for two QUESCREN projects. One project, which took place in February-March 2014, was for the creation of a new research group studying Quebec's English-speaking communities and immigration. It is composed of researchers and partners including Pathways to Prosperity, Quebec Community Groups Network and Seniors Action Quebec. The group recently met at the 16th National Metropolis Congress – you can see individual members' names on pages 35-36 of the program available at this link.

The second project is the upcoming QUESCREN-CIRLM symposium "Diversité et communautés d'expression anglaise du Québec : négociation de l'inclusion et mobilisation des ressources" ("Diversity and Quebec's English-speaking communities: Negotiating inclusion and mobilizing resources). It takes place May 12-13, 2014 as part of the Association francophone pour le savoir (Acfas) congress in Montreal. You are invited to attend! Registration with Acfas is required.

→ Seniors

The "Building Research Capacity Related to Quebec's English-speaking Seniors" project has now entered its third and last year. It is a project of the Quebec Community Groups Network in partnership with QUESCREN. Year one involved setting up the participatory action method and structure; year two (just complete) focused on data collection and year three will mainly involve networking and knowledge dissemination. Please visit the project website's research page to see results of our survey and statistical analyses.

News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

THURSDAY 31 JULY

News of research on Quebec's English-speaking communities, July 2014

Hello QUESCREN members,

I'm pleased to be sending you the July, 2014 newsletter of the Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network. The right-hand menu provides subject access to this quarter's research news.

This newsletter is sent out to about 585 readers from the research, community and government sectors. Please continue to send me your news to share of projects, resources and events related to research on Quebec Anglophones.

Kind regards,

Lorraine O'Donnell

News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

MONDAY 6 OCTOBER

Dear QUESCREN members,

For a fifth time, QUESCREN is co-organizing a research conference on Quebec's English-speaking communities to take place at the annual Acfas congress. Once again, I am writing informally to ask QUESCREN members if you would consider participating in it. If so, please let me know by Monday, October 20, 2014. The formal call for papers comes later.

See below for details.

Sincerely,

Lorraine O'Donnell

CALL FOR PARTICIPATION: ACFAS 2015

Background

The Acfas (Association francophone pour le savoir) congresses are important events that bring together hundreds of subject-specific conferences, including ours. Many of these conferences focus on Quebec and most are in French only. Next year's congress will be held on May 25 to 29, 2015 at Université du Québec à Rimouski. Information on the congress is here.

QUESCREN's 2010, 2011, 2012 and 2014 Acfas conferences broke new ground. They were co-organized with the Canadian Institute for Research on Linguistic Minorities, Eastern Townships Resource Centre and the Équipe de recherche interuniversitaire sur la littérature anglo-qubécoise as well as community partners including the Quebec Community Groups Network and Townshippers' Association. Many academic, government and community-based researchers presented papers crossing disciplines but all related to the history and current situation of Quebec's English-speaking communities.

The 2015 conference

The 2015 conference co-organizers are Drs. Lorraine O'Donnell, Coordinator-Researcher of QUESCREN and Anne Robineau, Assistant Director of the Canadian Institute for Research on Linguistic Minorities. The program committee consists of Drs. Cheryl Gosselin and Paul Zanazanian, professors at Bishop's University and McGill University respectively, and Drs. O'Donnell and Robineau. Once again, Patrick Donovan of Université Laval will coordinate the conference.

Title of the 2015 conference

A community of communities: Identity, diversity and mobility in Quebec's English-speaking population

Description of the 2015 conference

QUESCREN and its partners have held four Acfas conferences to date on the subject of Quebec's English-speaking communities (ESCQ), which form a language minority within Quebec and an official language minority of Canada. These events presented the latest research and developed research capacity through the establishment and reinforcement of ties between researchers and research partners. Furthermore, the subjects of ESCQ institutions, networks and resources all sparked fruitful discussion and debate concerning their development and role in Quebec society.

The research has revealed that while sharing a language, Quebec's English-speaking population contains many communities and sub-groups organized by:

- Sense of belonging to a place (eg. rural/urban divide, identification with one's town, region or place of origin)
- Ethno-cultural and immigrant group identity
- Social class
- Religion
- Communities of interest, practice and action (eg., political affiliation, arts/heritage groups)

- Age and gender groups
- Identification with and integration into the English-speaking minority and French-speaking majority

At the same time, these categories can be fluid, overlapping and changing. Quebec's English-speaking population has many newcomers from Canada and abroad, but also many people leaving the province. Communities of interest, practice and action overlap, grow and subside; levels of identification and integration into the minority and majority language groups shift and vary according to circumstances, time and location. There is movement into and out of the various communities and sub-groups as people and environments transform.

Our conference aims to identify the many communities and sub-groups comprising Quebec's Anglophone population and the situations and phenomena that make the categories meaningful, complex and mutable.

Like its predecessors, this conference will be a great opportunity to meet, share knowledge and further develop our research interests.

Your potential participation in the 2015 conference

We are currently developing our 2015 conference proposal to be sent to Acfas in November. For this proposal, we need the names of several potential participants.

Would you consider participating in this conference? Would you like to present a paper or organize a panel around a subject area? Would you like to participate in or organize a workshop or round-table? Do you have other ideas to making this conference theme work for you?

Please let us know by Monday, October 20, 2014 by writing Lorraine O'Donnell (lorraine.odonnell@concordia.ca), cc'd to Anne Robineau (anne.robineau@umoncton.ca) and Patrick Donovan (acfas2015@gmail.com) with the following information:

- Your name and job title
- The nature of your possible participation: an individual presentation (paper) or a session (group of presentations, round-table or workshop)
- The subject of your presentation or session, with a title if possible
- Whether the focus will be on: a research project; a community-based participatory or action research project; or another type of community-based initiative (eg., an arts or economic development project)

Regarding the formal call for papers (winter 2014-15)

A formal call for paper (presentation) proposals for this conference will follow in a few months. At that point, the program committee will evaluate each proposal for inclusion in the conference program.

Note on the language of our conference

Presentations in French are preferable, given that Acfas is a French-language venue. Authors presenting in spoken English will be requested to provide written titles and summaries in French before the conference date, and a written support (eg., PowerPoint presentation or handout) in French on the conference date. The conference organizers will be pleased to help provide English-to-French translation of this material.

News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

TUESDAY 23 DECEMBER

CALL FOR PAPERS

For a QUESCREN-CIRLM conference entitled
English-speaking communities of Quebec outside Montreal, then and now:
Portrait and analysis

May 26-27, 2015

83e Congrès de l'Acfas
Université du Québec à Rimouski

Keynote speaker:

Alexander Reford, M.A., Director, Reford Gardens

Back To Top

CONFERENCE DESCRIPTION

Quebec's English-speaking population shares a language but is divided into many communities and sub-groups. Identifying their characteristics is a challenge for research and public action. Language-based identity markers are often accompanied by other markers, which may be more significant for some individuals. These include a sense of belonging to a cultural group (eg., Irish, Pakistani, First Nations, etc.), a religion (eg., Jewish, Christian, etc.) or a territory (Montreal, Quebec City, Townships, etc.). Differences between communities and their situations are also linked to whether or not they have a historic presence in Quebec. This presence has a bearing on the strength of their institutions, the visibility of their representatives and, through these, the possibilities for dialogue with the French-speaking majority.

Establishing clear-cut criteria to define these communities is a complex undertaking. However, one broad trend may be identified:

a growing and long-standing disparity between English-speakers in Montreal and those outside the metropolis. Up until now, most research has focused on the Montreal region, where more than 80% of Quebec's English speakers may be found (Statistics Canada 2011). Our conference breaks new ground in looking at challenges and issues for communities living away from this critical mass. The challenges and issues include institutional maintenance, community capacity to mobilize, retention of youth tending to migrate to Montreal or other Canadian cities, attracting immigrants, and access to services in English as guaranteed under provincial and federal law. Our conference will address many of these issues. It aims to provide a sharper portrait of the English-speaking communities outside Montreal and to develop a critical and up-to-date reading of their situation.

In this context, our keynote speaker, Mr. Alexander Reford, will address the question of cultural heritage in these communities by presenting the case of the Reford Gardens from their origins to the present day.

Back To Top

CONFERENCE GOALS

1) To maintain our expertise on the subject of Quebec's English-speaking communities by offering researchers, deciders and community organizers the opportunity to discuss research issues related to this population. This conference builds on QUESCREN's 2010, 2011, 2012 and 2014 Acfas conferences that helped establish "ESCQ studies" as a field of research. The 2015 conference will bring together previous and new participants, fostering networking and supporting the development of the next generation of researchers.

2) To better inform the French-speaking research community on Quebec's English-speaking community realities including mobility and identity issues and diversity (ethnic, linguistic, regional, economic and cultural); in so doing, to reflect on measures that may contribute to the social development of this "community of communities."

3) To contribute to French-language scientific research in Quebec.

Memo from the Association for Canadian Studies

The QUESCREN-CIRLM conference is part of the annual Association francophone pour le savoir (Acfas) congress. Acfas congresses are important events that bring together hundreds of subject-specific conferences, including ours. Many of these conferences focus on Quebec and most are in French only. Next year's congress will be held on May 25 to 29, 2015 at the Université du Québec à Rimouski. Information on the congress is here.

QUESCREN's conferences at the 2010, 2011, 2012 and 2014 Acfas congresses broke new ground. They were co-organized with the Canadian Institute for Research on Linguistic Minorities, Eastern Township Resource Centre and the Équipe de recherche interuniversitaire sur la littérature anglo-québécoise as well as community partners including the Quebec Community Groups Network and Townshippers' Association. Many academic, government and community-based researchers presented papers crossing disciplines but all related to the history and current situation of Quebec's English-speaking communities.

- Name, job title, organisation, email address of paper presenter
- Title of paper (max. 190 characters, including spaces)
- Text of maximum 1510 characters, including the following elements if applicable: 1) subject of research; 2) methodology; 3) brief presentation of results
- Short bibliography (max. 1 page) supporting the proposal
- Brief biography (5 lines)

Please send your proposal in electronic format by Thursday, January 22, 2015 to Lorraine O'Donnell

DEADLINE EXTENDED: Please note the deadline has been extended for research proposals for the 2015-2016 phase, now due by Monday, February 23rd, 2015.

Proposals for the 2014-2015 phase are still due by Friday, January 30, 2015.

The McGill Training and Retention of Health Professionals Project is launching a call for proposals to support research on the relationship between language and access to health care or social services. Research projects approved will expand on the work completed by the Health Care Access for Linguistic Minorities Network (HCALM-Network) in previous years. The HCALM-Network investigates communication between patients and health professionals, where the health professional has to use a second language and where this poses a potential language barrier that may compromise equitable access to health care.

The total amount for this funding envelope is $200,000, per year (2014-2015 & 2015-2016). The principal applicant must be a researcher based in, or formally affiliated with, a Quebec institution such as a university or research institute. Information here.

→ Acfas 2015

QUESCREN's fifth annual conference at the Association francophone pour le savoir (Acfas) congress achieved its goals! Our event, which took place in Rimouski, was called "English-speaking communities of Quebec outside Montreal, then and now: Portrait and analysis." It featured 15 presentations by 21 researchers from the university, community and government sectors. Topics ranged from Gaspé accents to health services in remote regions. We had field trips to the historic Reford Gardens and Heritage Lower Saint Lawrence, to learn about the culture, history and current situation of English speakers in the region. To see the conference description, presentation summaries and Powerpoints, visit our conference webpage.

→ Language rights

The Language Rights Support Program is calling for papers by university students, professors, professionals, researchers and others interested in language rights.

This call for papers is for an impact study project that will allow three people to receive a grant of up to a maximum of $5,000 per study. The chosen impact studies will be presented by their authors during the LRSP's Annual Meeting on November 23rd, 2015, and will subsequently be posted to the LRSP's website and its social media channels. The impact study projects must pertain to:

- The clarification and advancement of Section 16 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (Charter);
- The link between Section 16 of the Charter and the Official Languages Act (OLA), specifically Part VII of the OLA.

→ Politics

The Research Committee on the Politics of Language (RC50) is now inviting paper proposals on the topic of "The Politics of Language" for the 24th World Congress of the International Political Science Association (IPSA). It takes place in Istanbul, Turkey, on July 23-28, 2016. RC50 will consider a range of themes including:

- Justice for Linguistic Minorities: Theories and Practices
- The Politics of English Language Education
- Social Mobility, In-Migration and Minority Languages Communities
- Politics of Official Language Policies

Note: RC50 is a loose network of about 125 political scientists (but also a few sociolinguists and philosophers) working on issues

News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

TUESDAY 6 OCTOBER

Dear QUESCREN members,

For the sixth time, QUESCREN is co-organizing a research conference on Quebec's English-speaking communities to take place at the annual Acfas congress. Once again, I am writing informally to ask QUESCREN members if you would consider participating in it. If so, please let me know by Monday, October 19, 2015. The formal call for papers comes later.

See below for details.

Sincerely,

Lorraine O'Donnell

Many academic, government and community-based researchers have presented papers crossing disciplines but all related to the history and current situation of Quebec's English-speaking communities.

The 2016 conference

The 2016 conference co-organizers are Drs. Lorraine O'Donnell, Coordinator-Researcher of QUESCREN and Anne Robineau, Assistant Director of the Canadian Institute for Research on Linguistic Minorities and Patrick Donovan, PhD student at Université Laval.

Title

Connect and disconnect: Anglophones, the English language and Montreal's creative economy

Description

Montreal's current economic development strategy puts creativity and culture at the forefront, saying that the city "prosperity by combining talent and creativity, collaboration and innovation, a vibrant cultural scene and easy access to everything" (<http://www.sdemontreal.com>). Richard Florida, a leading scholar of the creative economy, also identifies Montreal as a model known for its "super creative core," and considers the interplay of languages to play a key role in this: "predominately bilingual, and somewhat multilingual, the Montreal region offers a unique setting in which to investigate the innovative impact both of language and of cultural connections" (Stolarick and Florida 2006).

The key roles played by English-speaking communities in Montreal's creative economy benefits the communities themselves as well as the city. Montreal has been identified as an "incubator" of the arts, culture, and heritage sectors for the city's English speakers, and this population participates in these sectors in higher proportion than Francophones (Rodgers, Needles and Garber 2007). Promoting involvement of English speakers in the creative economy is seen in some quarters as a means for furthering not just economic but also social development, namely community vitality, cultural diversity and intercultural understanding (Zhang 2012; Canadian Heritage 2013 ).

Nonetheless, there are concerns. First of all, the place of English language cultural expression in Francophone-majority Quebec is regularly questioned. Secondly, parts of the English-speaking community face barriers including funding issues, challenges faced by artists of non-European backgrounds and obstacles related to language and culture practices (Zhang 2012).

Evidently, the position of the English language in Quebec's creative economy is an important and complex topic. Our conference addresses this complexity with a focus on Montreal. Our understanding of the creative economy concentrates "on arts, culture, and heritage, rather than being as broad as some of the literature would suggest (e.g., it does not include all research and development sectors and education)" (Zhang 2012).

Themes that could be explored include:

- Meeting points, bridges and living together: minority-majority relations in Montreal's creative economy
- Montreal as the motor of the creative economy? Views from other cities and regions
- Immigration and ethno-cultural diversity in creative economy workers
- Youth and the creative economy
- The creative economy and community economic development, sustainability and vitality
- Demographics and portraits: Anglophones active in Montreal's arts, culture and heritage sectors
- Active units: art hives, networks, collectives
- Industry issues: production, growth, copyright
- Montreal as a creative economy mecca? Richard Florida and his critics
- Situated creativity: art hives, Quartier des spectacles, Mile End, universities, etc.
- Heritage tourism
- Language and culture as sources of inclusion/exclusion
- Policy, programming, funding and infrastructure
- English language cultural expression and the politics of language in Quebec

Your potential participation in the 2016 conference

We are currently developing our 2016 conference proposal to be sent to Acfas in November. For this proposal, we need the names of several potential participants.

Would you consider participating in this conference? Would you like to present a paper or organize a panel around a subject area? Would you like to participate in or organize a workshop or roundtable? Do you have other ideas to making this conference theme work for you?

Please let us know by Monday, October 19, 2015 by writing Lorraine O'Donnell (lorraine.odonnell@concordia.ca), cc'd to Anne Robineau (anne.robineau@umoncton.ca) and Patrick Donovan (patrickdonovan.qc@gmail.com) with the following information:

- Your name and job title
- The nature of your possible participation: an individual presentation (paper) or a session (group of presentations, round-table or workshop)
- The subject of your presentation or session, with a title if possible
- Whether the focus will be on: a research project; a community-based participatory or action research project; or another type of community-based initiative (eg., an arts or economic development project)

Regarding the formal call for papers (winter 2015-16)

If the Acfas organizing committee accepts our conference proposal, a formal call for papers (presentations) for our conference will follow in a few months. At that point, a program committee will evaluate each proposal for inclusion in the conference program.

Note on the language of our conference

Presentations in French are preferable, given that Acfas is a French-language venue. Authors presenting in spoken English will be requested to provide written titles and summaries in French before the conference date, and a written support (eg., PowerPoint presentation or handout) in French on the conference date. The conference organizers will be pleased to help provide English-to-French translation of this material.

News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

FRIDAY 30 OCTOBER

News of research on Quebec's English-speaking communities, October 2015

Hello QUESCREN members,

I'm pleased to be sending you the October newsletter of the Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network. The right-hand menu provides subject access to this quarter's research news.

This newsletter is sent out to about 600 readers from the research, community and government sectors. Please continue to send me your news to share of projects, resources and events related to research on Quebec Anglophones.

QUESCREN puts names on our newsletter mailing list only upon obtaining permission. If you would like your name removed from the list, please click "unsubscribe" on the link to the right.

Kind regards,

Lorraine O'Donnell

Affiliate Assistant Professor, School of Community and Public Affairs, Concordia University,

→ Conference description

Montreal's current economic development strategy puts creativity and culture at the forefront. It states that the city "prosper by combining talent and creativity, collaboration and innovation, a vibrant cultural scene and easy access to everything" (<http://www.sdemontreal.com>). Richard Florida, a leading scholar of the creative economy, also identifies Montreal as a model known for its "super creative core," and considers that the interplay of languages have a key role in this: "predominately bilingual, and somewhat multilingual, the Montreal region offers a unique setting in which to investigate the innovative impact both of language and of cultural connections" (Stolarick and Florida 2006).

The key roles played by English-speaking communities in Montreal's creative economy benefit the communities themselves and the city. Montreal has been identified as an "incubator" of the arts, culture, and heritage sectors for the city's English speakers, and this population participates in these sectors in a higher proportion than Francophones (Rodgers, Needles and Garber 2007). Promoting involvement of English speakers in the creative economy is seen in some quarters as a means for furthering not just economic but also social development, namely community vitality, cultural diversity and intercultural understanding (Zhang 2012; Canadian Heritage 2013).

Nonetheless, there are concerns. First of all, the place of English-language cultural expression regularly inspires debates in a society where the French-language majority also seeks to preserve its cultural vitality. Secondly, artists of non-European backgrounds who are part of Quebec's official language minority face particular barriers related to language and cultural practices, including funding issues (Zhang 2012).

Evidently, the position of the English language in Montreal's creative economy is an important and complex topic. Our understanding of the creative economy concentrates "on arts, culture, and heritage, rather than being as broad as some of the literature would suggest (e.g., it does not include all research and development sectors and education)" (Zhang 2012).

In this context, our keynote speaker, Linda Leith, Ph.D, will draw from over 40 years of experience as an academic, publisher, novelist and cultural activist in Montreal to address some of the questions raised above. She will also discuss her memoir, Writing in the Time of Nationalism, which deals with the decline and regeneration of Montreal's English-language literary community over the past half century.

The conference builds on the following QUESCREN report: Zhang, Tracy, with Aurelia Roman for Industry Canada in collaboration with the Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network, the Community Economic Development and Employability Corporation (CEDEC) and the Quebec Community Groups Network (QCGN). The Creative Economy and English-speaking communities in Quebec. Montreal, 2012.

Themes that could be explored include:

- Meeting points, bridges and living together: minority-majority relations in Montreal's creative economy
- Montreal as the motor of Quebec's creative economy? Views from other cities and regions
- Immigration and ethno-cultural diversity in creative economy workers
- Youth and the creative economy
- The creative economy and community economic development, sustainability and vitality
- Demographics and portraits: Anglophones active in Montreal's arts, culture and heritage sectors
- Active units: art hives, networks, collectives
- Industry issues: production, growth, copyright
- Montreal as a creative economy mecca? Richard Florida and his critics
- Situated creativity: art hives, Quartier des spectacles, Mile End, universities, etc.
- Heritage tourism
- Language and culture as sources of inclusion/exclusion
- Policy, programming, funding and infrastructure
- English language cultural expression and the politics of language in Quebec
- Critical perspectives

→ Goals

1) To maintain our expertise on the subject of Quebec's English-speaking communities by offering researchers, decision-makers and community organizers the opportunity to discuss research issues related to this population. This conference builds on QUESCREN's five previous Acfas conferences (2010-15) that helped establish "English-speaking Communities of Quebec (ESCQ) studies" as a field of research. The 2016 conference will bring together previous and new participants, fostering networking and supporting the development of the next generation of researchers.

2) To better identify problems and develop solutions through exchanges with the French-speaking research community on Quebec's English-speaking community realities in relation to the creative economy .

3) To contribute to French-language scientific research in Quebec.

Back To Top

→ Background

The Acfas (Association francophone pour le savoir) congresses are important events that bring together hundreds of subject-specific conferences, including ours. Many of these conferences focus on Quebec and most are solely in French. Next year's congress will be held on May 9-13, 2016 at the Université de Québec à Montréal. Information on the congress is here.

QUESCREN's five previous Acfas conferences were groundbreaking. They were co-organized with the Canadian Institute for Research on Linguistic Minorities, the Eastern Townships Resource Centre and the Équipe de recherche interuniversitaire sur la littérature anglo-québécoise, as well as

FRIDAY 29 JANUARY

News of research on Quebec's English-speaking communities, January 2016

Hello QUESCREN members,

I'm pleased to be sending you the January 2016 newsletter of the Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network. The right-hand menu provides subject access to this quarter's research news.

This newsletter is sent out to about 600 readers from the research, community and government sectors. Please continue to send me your news to share of projects, resources and events related to research on Quebec Anglophones.

QUESCREN puts names on our newsletter mailing list only upon obtaining permission. If you would like your name removed from the list, please click "unsubscribe" on the link to the right.

Kind regards,

Lorraine O'Donnell

News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

FRIDAY 29 APRIL

News of research on Quebec's English-speaking communities, April 2016

Hello QUESCREN members,

I'm pleased to be sending you the April 2016 newsletter of the Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network. The right-hand menu provides subject access to this quarter's research news.

This newsletter is sent out to about 650 readers from the research, community and government sectors. Please continue to send me your news to share of projects, resources and events related to research on Quebec Anglophones.

QUESCREN puts names on our newsletter mailing list only upon obtaining permission. If you would like your name removed from the list, please click "unsubscribe" on the link to the right.

Kind regards,

Lorraine O'Donnell

News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

FRIDAY 29 JULY

News of research on Quebec's English-speaking communities, July 2016

Hello QUESCREN members,

I'm pleased to be sending you the July 2016 newsletter of the Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network. The right-hand menu provides subject access to this quarter's research news.

This newsletter is sent out to about 670 readers from the research, community and government sectors. Please continue to send me your news to share of projects, resources and events related to research on Quebec Anglophones.

QUESCREN puts names on our newsletter mailing list only upon obtaining permission. If you would like your name removed from the list, please click "unsubscribe" on the link to the right.

Kind regards,

Lorraine O'Donnell

→ Culture, economy

Our annual Acfas (Association francophone pour le savoir) conference, May 12-13, was well-attended, animated and interesting. The conference title was "Connect and Disconnect: Anglophones, the English language and Montreal's creative economy."

The event, held at UQAM, featured presentations at the Acfas site by academics and community organizers and off-Acfas activities including two fascinating walking tours created for QUESCREN and a lively panel of artists and arts administrators addressing realities of working and practicing in English in Quebec. We'll post some of the presentations on our website in coming weeks. Stay tuned for next year's event that takes place at McGill!

→ History

QUESCREN co-organized a symposium on May 19 called "English-speaking Quebec Community Leaders and the Uses of History." It highlighted the findings from a research project led by McGill University professor Paul Zanazanian. A full house listened and exchanged on the topic of how English-speaking community leaders in Quebec make sense of the past for fostering community vitality and civic engagement.

News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

MONDAY 31 OCTOBER

News of research on Quebec's English-speaking communities, October 2016

Hello QUESCREN members,

I'm pleased to be sending you the October 2016 newsletter of the Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network. The right-hand menu provides subject access to this quarter's research news.

This newsletter is sent out to about 685 readers from the research, community and government sectors. Please continue to send me your news to share of projects, resources and events related to research on Quebec Anglophones.

QUESCREN puts names on our newsletter mailing list only upon obtaining permission. Please note that Campaign Manager, the platform for this newsletter, automatically provides QUESCREN with readership data such as links clicked by individual subscribers. If you would like your name removed from the list, please click "unsubscribe" on the link to the right.

Kind regards,

Lorraine O'Donnell

RESEARCH PROJECT ON THEATER

Dr. Erin Hurley of the McGill University Department of English sent news of the following research project:

- Régimes socio-esthétiques du théâtre au Québec (1945-2015) : synthèse historique is a SSHRC-funded research project whose aim is to survey and summarize the history of theatre in Quebec from 1945-2015. It is the first study of its kind and is being written in collaboration with nine researchers with complementary knowledges and skills from across Quebec (and francophone Ottawa). Importantly, we are taking into account the history of English-language theatre in Quebec, integrating its story, aesthetics, major players, institutions, plays, and critical reception into the work. Erin Hurley at McGill University is primarily responsible for area of research and writing. Some of the group's documentation is available to the public on our website, where you will also find a more complete description (in French) of the project and its history.

News from QUESCREN Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network

THURSDAY 24 NOVEMBER

CALLS FOR PAPERS

1- HEALTH OF CANADA'S OLMCS

Health Canada's Official Language Community Development Bureau is pleased to announce that the call for communication proposals for the 2nd Science Colloquium on the Health of Canada's Official Language Minority Communities (OLMCs) is now open. Colloquium activities will be taking place in Ottawa on February 27 and 28, 2017. Deadline for proposals: December 21, 2016.

Background of the 2nd colloquium

This Colloquium is intended as a follow-up to the first event, held in November 2009, as regards the health of Canada's OLMCs. Research in the field has advanced since then, and Health Canada is seeking communication proposals that will, on the one hand, provide a picture of the state of OLMC health research and OLMC's access to health care in Canada and, on the other, share the knowledge acquired since 2009 among Canada's Anglophone and Francophone minorities. Given that the Official Languages Health Contribution Program renewal is scheduled in 2018, Health Canada would like to have a clear picture of the situation so that it can set future directions for its policy and contribution program.

Objectives of the 2nd colloquium

The proposed objectives of the 2017 Colloquium are:

- Integrate the work of researchers within OLMCs to address the health challenges these communities face, inform and influence

In this issue

- 1- HEALTH OF CANADA'S OLMCS
- 2- BILL 101 AND THE ESCQ

health practices, and meet research challenges.

-Promote qualitative research in communities and regions in order to study the challenges of vulnerable groups, the elderly, children, and mental health situations.

-Compare health status and health service delivery between:

- Quebec Francophones and those living in other provinces
- English-speaking Quebecers and Anglophones in the rest of Canada
- Francophone minorities outside of Quebec and Anglophones outside of Quebec
- Quebec Anglophones and Quebec Francophones

-Analyze government policy aimed at improving health and access to health care services for minority Anglophone and Francophone communities.

- Official Languages Health Contribution Program
- Other federal government programs: Health Canada, Public Health Agency of Canada, Canadian Institutes of Health Research
- Provincial and territorial governments

-Evaluate the costs and benefits of language and culture across the full spectrum of training and health service delivery.

Themes of the 2nd colloquium

The communications research themes suggested by Health Canada include the following:

- Trends regarding health human resources in OLMCs
- Practices for integrating bilingual health professionals into OLMCs
- Community practices for improving health services in OLMCs
- Recent practices regarding partnerships to improve services within OLMCs
- Language accreditation standards for health services
- Challenges and best practices regarding the data needed to support access to health services and research in official languages
- Best practices for improving mental health
- Evaluation of support measures for individuals within the health care system (e.g., health system navigators, interpreters, guides, informal caregivers, etc.)
- Support approaches for specific demographic groups
- Promising practices for health and health service promotion
- Recent provincial and territorial issues related to improving health services within OLMCs
- Practices of stakeholders that are not part of OLMCs (e.g., pan-Canadian organizations – Canadian Institute for Health Information, Canadian Foundation for Healthcare Improvement, Mental Health Commission of Canada) that address certain health concerns
- Other research topics of interest regarding health in OLMCs
