

Winter 2022 Important Information for Students

Sociology and Anthropology department staff will be working remotely January 24-28, 2022 (inclusive).

The Undergraduate Student Lab (H-1132) is now open for the winter semester.

The lab is reserved for Sociology and Anthropology program students only.* The lab is open Monday to Friday from 08:30-21:00.

If a program student needs a space to connect to a course remotely, they can use one of our 32 computers in the computer lab or bring their own laptop and use the reading room. Space is limited.

Please note that students need to bring their own headset if using a computer in the lab.

Undergraduate student advising for new and returning students will take place via Zoom. The latest advising schedule can be found on the Sociology and Anthropology webpage under the Student Life:

<https://www.concordia.ca/artsci/sociology-anthropology/student-life/advising.html>

Any questions or queries related to Undergraduate Programs or courses should be directed to Marion Whyte at socanth.fas@concordia.ca

Please submit Undergraduate Student Request Forms and Change of Concentration Forms to socanth.fas@concordia.ca

Any questions or queries related for Graduate Programs or courses should be directed to Eve Girard, Graduate Programs Assistant, at gpasa@concordia.ca

If you need to meet with Eve in-person, kindly email her in advance for her availability and/or to make an appointment.

For general inquires, please contact Rebecca Hadida, Department Assistant, by telephone at (514) 848-2424 ext: 2140 or by email at daas@concordia.ca