Professor Simon Claude Mimouni has been “directeur d’études” at the Section of Religious Studies in the Ecole pratique des hautes études (EPHE) in Paris. His research focuses on the historical development of the movement of Jesus’ disciples inside and outside of Judaism in the first two centuries CE. He is the author of number of books and articles pertaining to early Judaism and early Christianity, as well as to the apocryphal literature. His most recent publications include: Early Judaeo-Christianity. Historical Essays (Leuven: Peeters, 2012) ; Le judaïsme ancien du VI^e siècle avant notre ère au III^e siècle de notre ère : des prêtres aux rabbins (Paris: PUF, 2012); Les traditions anciennes sur la Dormition et l’Assomption de Marie. Etudes littéraires, historiques et doctrinales (Leiden-Boston: Brill, 2011); La circoncision dans le monde judéen aux époques grecque et romaine. Histoire d’un conflit interne au judaïsme (Leuven: Peeters, 2008); Le christianisme des origines à Constantin (with Pierre Maraval) (Paris: PUF, 2006); Les fragments évangéliques judéo-chrétiens « apocryphés ». Recherches et perspectives (Paris: Gabalda, 2006), etc.
