

IMPORTANT CHANGES AFFECTING DEFERRED EXAMINATION PROCESSES

At the March 2010 meeting of the University Senate several changes that affect examination-related processes were approved. The changes noted below become effective for courses taken during the 2010 summer session onward. Following is an explanation of the changes.

DEFERRED EXAMINATIONS

- “DEF” notations will now be defined as follows:

A student who has missed a final examination due to unforeseeable circumstances beyond his/her control can apply to have the original grade replaced by a temporary “DEF” notation. The original grade assigned must include a “DNW” notation.

Note: Unforeseeable and/or extraordinary circumstances may include, but are not limited to, a serious illness or severe injury; a recent death in one’s immediate family; unexpectedly assuming responsibility of an immediate family member due to serious illness; severe emotional stress; fire. Personal travel is not an acceptable reason to be granted a “DEF” notation.

- Applications for “DEF” notations that are based on illness must be accompanied by a preprinted “Medical Certificate for a Deferred (DEF) notation” that is attached to the Request for “DEFERRED” notation form.
- Requests for deferred examinations can be made in a maximum of three (3) exam sessions during a student’s undergraduate or independent studies at Concordia. (Note: the two sessions of the Summer semester will count as one semester only).

Requests which exceed the maximum permitted number will be submitted to the newly created University Examinations Committee for consideration.

- The University Examinations Committee is comprised of one faculty member from each Faculty, a student representative, a representative from the Office of the Provost, and a representative from the Office of the Registrar. The Committee’s decisions are final.
- Students have only one opportunity to write a deferred examination for any given course. Requests for a second opportunity to write a deferred examination for extraordinary circumstances will be submitted to the University Examinations Committee for consideration.
