*This is a coordinated course with a common course outline, common textbook and it may have a common final exam. In case there is a common final exam, it will be prepared by the course coordinator. Also note that while the midterm exam will not be coordinated, all sections may be asked to offer their respective midterm(s) on the same date.

*The instructors are required to send the course outline to the Course Coordinator two calendar weeks prior to the start of classes and the Department Assistant once the final outline is approved.

Course Description: This course provides a general understanding of the fundamental concepts of finance theory as they apply to the firm's long-run and short-run financing, and investment decisions. Building on the objective of firm value maximization, students become familiar with the conceptual issues underlying risk and return relationships and their measurements, as well as the valuation of financial securities. They also learn the concept of cost of capital, its measurement, and the techniques of capital budgeting as practised by today’s managers. Students are introduced to the basic issues surrounding the firm’s short-term and long-term funding decisions and its ability to pay dividends.

Course Content & Evaluation Scheme

Required Chapters/Topics to be covered:
Time Value of money, Bond valuation, Stock valuations - DDM, Risk & Return and Modern Portfolio Theory, CAPM, Capital Budgeting, Introduction to Options

Required Course Evaluation:
Class Test 1 - 20%
Class Test 2 - 20%
Final - 60%

Instructors are expected to make every effort to follow the required content and evaluation scheme. The Department reserves the right to make minor modifications to the course outline in the interest of delivering comparable student experiences across multiple sections of a course throughout the year.
