INTERNAL MEMORANDUM

TO: Dr Mark Sussman, Associate Dean, Academic and Student Affairs

FROM: Dr Elaine C. Paterson, Chair, Department of Art History

DATE: October 12, 2017

SUBJECT: Art History Graduate Curriculum Changes: ARTH-12

Dear Associate Dean Sussman (Mark),

I am pleased to propose three changes to the MA in Art History program. These changes have been fully discussed and formally approved by the department’s graduate program committee at its meeting on September 23rd. The committee consists of all full-time tenured and tenure-track faculty, who are also the only faculty teaching in the program. The aims of the changes are, variously: to respond to recommendations in our most recent program evaluation, which emphasized the importance of participatory learning; to keep Concordia’s MA program competitive within the Canadian context; and to more clearly and accurately convey the program requirements to students. There are no additional resources required towards the implementation of these proposed changes.

These changes are summarized as follows:

1) The addition of a supervised internship
2) A correction of the stated thesis word-length and clarification of its relation to the scholarly apparatus
3) A clarification to the wording of degree requirements and their credit weighting

Here is the full explanation of each change:

1) Addition of a new individualized course ARTH 650: Supervised Internship, with a value of 3 credits.

In keeping with increasing demand by students as well as the community-engagement aspect of Concordia’s strategic directions, we have decided to formalize a 3-credit MA internship course option. This decision creates a framework for practice that we have, until now, been informally implementing through our Independent Study course number (ARTH 647). ARTH 647 has been used for many years to credit student work in our longstanding partnership with the Leonard and Bina Ellen Gallery. More recently, students and institutions have been proposing other internships to the department – inspired, in some cases, by their experiences with our existing undergraduate internship option. Our recent experiences with these ad-hoc graduate internships have been positive. Formalizing a for-credit supervised internship option will increase transparency and makes all students equally aware of this possibility.
Internships enable students to gain valuable workplace training and to develop their professional networks. Properly structured and supervised, they can be a valuable component of a student’s education. The GPD, in consultation with the GPC, has created a framework document to ensure that the pedagogical aims of internships are met, that the lines of communication between department, student and participating institution are clear, and that the responsibilities of each party are outlined. Internships must be approved by the GPD and will have a faculty supervisor as well as a work-place supervisor. Each internship entails 150 hours of placement experience as well as the production of a written component.

The decision to implement this option for practical workplace learning is in keeping with the recommendations for career-related training and experiential learning within our most recent program evaluation.

2) Alteration of the stated word length for the MA thesis from current 10,000 - 12,000 words to 13,000 – 15,000 words, and also to clarify that this is exclusive of notes.

Despite appearances, the department’s ideal thesis length remains unaltered. In 2015 we modified the calendar description of our thesis from a page count to a word count, in order to give students more precise guidance in view of changes to the formatting described in the SGS thesis preparation manual (which had switched from double spacing to 1.5 spacing). Our intent was not to change the length of the thesis, but merely to describe it in a way that would be valid across formats. Unfortunately, an error of numerical calculation occurred, based on the use of the old standard of 250 typewritten words per page. That standard does not reflect contemporary norms of word processing with proportional font. As a result, the current calendar entry of 10,000 to 12,000 words is too short to accurately describe existing expectations and practice within the department. In calculating the revised word length we have used an average of 330 words per page. This figure has been confirmed by tests conducted by three different members of the Curriculum Committee and come closest to meeting our ongoing expectations for 40-45 pages of double-spaced text, exclusive of notes.

3) Clarification of the division of credits between coursework and thesis, as well as students’ options for coursework outside the standard seminar offerings of the program.

The existing distribution of credits between coursework and thesis remains unaltered; the proposed revision simply makes the relative weighting readily apparent.

The revised wording around independent studies, internships, and courses in other departments or Quebec universities, clarifies to students that they may only take one 3-credit course outside the regular seminar offerings of the program, and that all such arrangements are dependent on the approval of the GPD. This is in keeping with the recommendations of our last program.
evaluation to maximize student enrollment in our offered seminars, while maintaining the flexible and personalized degree structure that students increasingly look for when choosing their graduate program.

Sincerely,

PROJECT DESCRIPTION Please attach a 1-2 page project description using the following general headings:
1. Title of the project
2. Start and end dates and total number of hours. (Note: a 3-credit course normally requires 150 hours of work including reading, preparation, assignments, and contact hours. If the duration of the project extends over 2 terms, students register in the semester when the work will be completed.)
3. Detailed description of the project
4. Workplace objectives and student’s learning goals
5. Description of the written component and any other assignments
6. Meeting times & due dates

SIGNATURES:

I have planned this proposal with input from my thesis supervisor and my workplace supervisor, making sure to articulate clear pedagogical objectives and to understand both workplace and academic expectations. I understand that all work must be completed by the agreed-upon date, and that no IP grades will be granted.

I have reviewed this proposal, and agree to supervise the workplace aspects of the internship, meeting with the student on a regular basis. I have indicated my expectations to the student, and I understand that I will be asked to complete and return a short report form at the mid-point and end of the internship.

Workplace supervisor’s signature: __________________________ Date

I have reviewed this proposal and support my student’s application. I will liaise with both the student and the workplace supervisor at the mid-point of the internship, following up if necessary. I will assess the student’s written component and assign a final grade for the course within 5 days of the end of the examination period.

ARTH 650 Supervised Internship (3 credits)

Students may undertake an internship at an arts organization as a 3-credit course towards their degree. Internships must be approved in advance by the thesis supervisor and the graduate program director. Students will be supervised by an individual within the sponsoring institution, in consultation with the thesis supervisor, who will coordinate with the graduate program director to ensure that the student’s responsibilities are in keeping with aims of the MA program. The faculty member will determine the final grade, which will be evaluated on the basis of feedback from the workplace supervisor and a written submission from the student. The scope of the written component will be determined by the student’s faculty supervisor. The internship should involve 150 hours of work.

Rationale: In keeping with increasing demand by students as well as the community-engagement aspect of Concordia’s strategic directions, we have decided to formalize a 3-credit MA internship course option. The decision to implement this option for practical workplace learning is in keeping with the recommendations for career-related training and experiential learning within our most recent program evaluation. This option does not conflict with the Faculty’s and the Department’s interest in developing paid internship possibilities. Students may undertake a paid, uncredited internship in addition to or instead of a for-credit internship. Internships enable students to gain valuable workplace training and to develop their professional networks. Properly structured and supervised, they can be a valuable component of a student’s education.

Resource Implications: None.

CURRICULUM UPDATES

Letters of Intent and curriculum development proposals are being prepared by the departments of Music, Theatre, and Creative Arts Therapies for six new Graduate Certificate programs, to be launched, pending the necessary approvals, in Summer of 2018: Composition for the Moving Image, Electroacoustics and Sound Design; Jazz Performance and Creation; Teaching Acting; Public Practice Arts in Health; and, Play Therapy.

FINE ARTS DISTINGUISHED TEACHING AWARDS

We will be distributing the call for nominations for Teaching Awards this month, with the deadline set for early January 2018.

WILD TALKS: MICHAEL RAKOWITZ

We are excited to welcome Michael Rakowitz for the upcoming Wild Talks, November 21, 5:30-7:30pm, in the DB Clark. Rakowitz will discuss the term (g)hosting, to explore the intersection of hospitality and hostility in his work, and the recuperation of disappeared objects, smells, tastes, customs and relationships through reactivations and surrogates. Advance registration is now open, and details can be found on the Concordia events calendar.

SUMMER@CONCORDIA: SEND US YOUR IDEAS!

The Faculty of Fine Arts would like to offer non-credit offering(s) for this summer, and we are open to proposals from current full and part-time faculty as well as graduate students. These can be very simple micro-courses (a few days to a couple weeks) that are fee-based offerings. If this is of interest to you, please feel free to fill out the proposal form, and submit by email to fineartscurriculum@concordia.ca. Hard copies may be submitted to Fine Arts Student Academic Services reception Attn: Julie Johnston.

1. OVPRGS Internal Funding Programs

FALL 2017 ROUND OF INTERNAL FUNDING PROGRAMS: We received a total of 16 applications for the ARRE Competition. The Faculty Research Committee forwarded 14 applications to the Office of the Vice-President, Research & Graduate Studies (OVPRGS). The University Research Committee awarded ARREs to 6 Fine Arts Researchers.

SPRING 2018 ROUND OF INTERNAL FUNDING PROGRAMS: The next round of Internal Funding will include the Seed-Team, Seed-Individual, Facilities Optimization, and ARRE Programs. The deadline for Faculty/Researchers to submit an application for these programs has been set for Monday January 22, 2018.

2. External Grants

SSHRC CONNECTION: Results for the August 1st call for SSHRC Connection have come in. Of the three grants submitted, one was awarded to Prof. Sandeep Bhagwati.

GRANT APPLICATIONS: We are in the midst of a highly productive 2017-18 external grant season. To date the following applications have been submitted by Fine Arts researchers:

SSHRC: 7 (5, Insight Grant); (1, Connection – Nov 1st call); (1, Partnership Grant)
FRQSC: 12 (2, Soutien à la relève recherche-création); (8, Appui à la recherche création);
(2, Soutien aux équipes)

In development:
SSHRC: 5 (4, Partnership Development Grant); (1, Partnership Grant, LOI)
FRQSC: 4 (4, Audace – new program)

More applications are anticipated for the SSHRC Insight Development Grant and SSHRC Connection – February 1st call.

3. CURC

The Office of the Vice President Research and Graduate Studies has issued a new call for Concordia University Research Chair (CURC) nominations. The CURC program was created to give outstanding researchers across Concordia the opportunity to undertake a significant program of research for a 5-year period. Benefits of the program include a research budget, a salary stipend, and 6 credits of teaching remission in each of the five years of the CURC’s term. There are three distinct CURC-tiers or levels articulated to rank: Assistant, Associate, Full Professor. Members of academic and research units are invited to submit application dossiers including a Letter of Intent (LOI), a 750-1000 word research proposal, and a CV.
The Faculty Research Committee will only review nominations including a 1-page letter from the home department that addresses the ability of the department to sustain stewardship of the curriculum if the nominee is relieved of 6 credits of teaching; benefits of the CURC to graduate training and mentoring; positive impact of the CURC on the research capacity and reputation of the unit; and other kinds of impact upon the unit. The deadline to submit nominations to the Dean’s office is Monday January 15, 2018.

4. DURP

The Office of the Vice President Research and Graduate Studies has issued a first-ever call for Distinguished University Research Professor (DURP) nominations, the most prestigious form of recognition for overall research achievements awarded by the university. The DURP program has been created to recognize full professors who have demonstrated outstanding and sustained distinction in research over the course of their careers and are recognized nationally and internationally for both impact and leadership in their field. Eligibility is restricted to full professors only and the status of Distinguished University Research Professor is conferred in title only, with no additional compensation or course release. The deadline to submit nominations to the Dean’s office is Monday January 15, 2018.

5. Faculty Research News

STRATEGIC RESEARCH PLAN (SRP): Concordia must have an SRP in place in order to be eligible for Canada Research Chair (CRC) and Canada Foundation for Innovation (CFI) funding, as well as in the context of other funding opportunities, both internal and external. Our current Plan may be found here: http://www.concordia.ca/research/strategic-research-plan.html. The OOR is drafting a new SRP and is turning to you for feedback. Please take the short survey that asks about elements of the existing Plan – what works, what doesn't, and what could be added and/or removed. The survey will close on Tuesday, November 21, 2015 at 5:00 PM. https://iposurv.concordia.ca/nc/Surveys/SRP/

6. Graduate Awards, Fellowships, Residencies

BRONFMAN FELLOWSHIP: The deadline to apply is November 30, 2017. The fellowship supports the most promising new graduates in MFA Studio Arts, MDes, INDI, and HUMA, and assists them in further developing a research-creation profile at an important transitional time in their careers.

JORISCH COMPETITION: The application deadline is November 13, 2017. The fellowship funds a 4-week residency in Salzburg, Austria. The residency is open to graduate students in the visual arts, as well as students with research-creation practices in the INDI and HUMA programs.

HORIZON POSTDOC: We have received one application for the fall competition.
7. Health Research News

AHRC: Congratulations to the official launch of the Arts in Health Research Collective (AHRC), a group of creative arts therapies researchers working together to enhance understanding of the role of the arts in health and wellness. Janis Timm-Bottos, Sandra Curtis, Bonnie Harnden, Josée Leclerc, Yehudit Silverman, Stephen Snow, Guylaine Vaillancourt, Laurel Young.

THE CAMPAIGN FOR CONCORDIA: Key priorities to intensify Concordia research that tackles big questions include PREVENTIVE HEALTH. “Through our proposed Institute for Preventive Health and Healthy Living we will harness the expertise of more than 100 pan-Concordian faculty members, including 16 government-funded research chairs. Their work spans addiction, creative arts therapies, exercise science, child obesity, sleep, nutrition, clinical psychology and revolutionary medical imaging.”

FROM CHRISTOPHE GUY: “As you aware, health, health technologies and related areas have increasingly been part of the discussions related to the University’s Strategic Directions and, more specifically, to doubling our research. On May 5th, we held a health networking event that many of you attended. We and others have also had additional discussions and initiatives taking place over the past few months on the development of health research at Concordia – both within an Institute-type structure as well as other formats. One of the outcomes of these discussions is our decision to dedicate a staff position in the Research and Graduate Studies sector to better support health research initiatives, and I am very pleased to announce that Lynn Roy will be taking on the position of Lead, Health Initiatives and Special Projects. For the past three years, Lynn has been the Advisor, Preventive Health Research Development based at PERFORM. While in this role, she has built excellent connections within the health research community and has had great success in bringing in new sources of research funding –especially in collaboration with Advancement. Lynn will be contacting research units as well as individual researchers in the coming days to explore where support is needed and what avenues can be further developed and explored. You should also feel free to contact her immediately if you have projects to discuss.”
1. In his opening remarks, the President was talking, among other subjects, on:
- The Walrus Talks, a national series of events, in which researchers from Concordia have presented during a recent edition in Toronto, and will be presenting in the editions to be held in Ottawa and Calgary on October and November. https://www.concordia.ca/events/conversation-series/thinking-out-loud/walrus-2017.html

2. The approval of a Minor in Biophysics was received as a positive step forward in creating multidisciplinary programs at Concordia, focusing on developing a university for the future.

3. The Annual Academic Hearing Report 2016-2017 was introduced. In accordance with the Academic Code of Conduct, this report details the number and type of charges laid under the Code and their disposition. A clear table with the breakdown of the type of charges was presented during the session. On this regard, plagiarism is one of the main problems Concordia is still facing. For more information, see Document US-2017-6-D11.

4. The latest results of the National Survey of Student Engagement (NSSE) were presented to the Senate. The survey included over a hundred questions. “Student engagement represents two critical features of collegiate quality. The first is the amount of time and effort students put into their studies and other educationally purposeful activities. The second is how the institution deploys its resources and organizes the curriculum and other learning opportunities to get students to participate in activities that decades of research studies show are linked to student learning.” One aspect where Concordia did not perform very well has been academic advising. The university is working on it. It was mentioned that some AI (artificial intelligence) tools are under development, to help with basic consultations. Some of the Concordia strengths are: Diversity of Concordia student population; working off-campus; instructors provide prompt and detailed feedback; students come to class prepared (compared to similar groups). More information can be found here: http://nsse.indiana.edu/

5. The Provost made a comprehensive presentation highlighting many aspects of Concordia’s nine directions for a next-generation university. https://www.concordia.ca/about/strategic-directions.html
   Among other points he highlighted, were:
   - Concordia position in the prestigious QS World University Rankings. https://www.topuniversities.com/universities/concordia-university#wurs
   - Meaningful partnerships, such as those with Hydro-Québec, and the Musée des Beaux-Arts de Montreal.
   - On September 14, 2017, a Concordia Day was held at the same Museum of Fine Arts.
A Concordia-based education project in Sub-Saharan Africa that recently was awarded a UNESCO global literacy prize, received $2.5 million in funding granted by SSHRC. This is also combined with additional funding from the CFI. The project from the Concordia’s Centre for the Study of Learning and Performance (CLSP) was made possible thanks to a close collaboration with the Aga Khan Academies, and support from Aga Khan Foundation Canada and Global Affairs Canada.

- The significant investment to transform the Webster Library. https://library.concordia.ca/about/transformation/https://library.concordia.ca/webster-transformation/
- Sustained commitment to indigenous directions.
- The success of Summer Schools projects.
- More support to staff initiatives.
- Montreal 2050: “a hub for research and action with the goal of creating a city at the leading edge of urban design and planning. Convening academics, students, business, government and the general public, this is a space to imagine a strong and sustainable urban future for all citizens and the land on which we live.” In partnership with Future Earth, a United Nations research platform. https://www.concordia.ca/artsci/about/montreal-2050.html
