ZOOM VIDEO CONFERENCING TIP SHEET FOR FACULTY COUNCIL MEETINGS

Here are a few steps that we will follow to help us run a virtual meeting:

Please join 5 minutes before the meeting start time.

Waiting Room

- Attendees will be held in the virtual WAITING ROOM upon entry. The Secretary will admit entry to the meeting. In order to identify the participant, please START VIDEO so that you may be seen by the Recording Secretary. This will allow the Recording Secretary to take attendance. CLOSED SESSION: This will allow the Secretary to ensure that only Council members are admitted. Once you have been admitted, please change your settings to MUTE.
- These measures are being put into place to retain the integrity of Faculty Council, i.e., to prevent “Zoom bombing” or other malicious access.

Recording of Meeting

- The ‘save to cloud’ option has been disabled by the University and no recordings will be saved by Zoom anywhere on the cloud.
- A video and audio recording will be made by the Recording Secretary for the sole purpose of writing the minutes. The recording will not be shared.

To ensure the best sound & visual quality of an on-line experience, please adhere to the following tips:

- Please use your computer and/or laptop if possible (versus cell phone).
- Please select the Gallery View to display 49 participants per screen (log into the Zoom desktop client or app → Settings → Video → Display up to 49 participants per screen in Gallery View (this option is disabled if your CPU isn't powerful enough to handle it). You can do this ahead of time if you wish. If you have any questions contact CDA.
- Choose “join with computer audio” when prompted.
- During the meeting MUTE your microphone until it is your turn to intervene. (see below on how to indicate that you wish to intervene).

- TURN OFF your call waiting for the entire meeting if you have joined by phone.
- Consider using headphones rather than speakers, since this will also reduce the risk of acoustic feedback.
- If possible, please connect with a wired Internet connection for added stability. Alternatively, be as close as possible to your wireless router.
Here are a few steps that we will follow to help us work through the agenda in an orderly manner:

The Chair will present each item on the agenda and invite presenters to address the meeting.

If you have a question, identify yourself before speaking, by raising your hand:

- If you wish to speak to an item, please use the icon Raise Hand and wait for the Chair or Secretary to acknowledge you before speaking. Once acknowledged, please UNMUTE. The Raise Hand icon is found in PARTICIPANTS.

When voting, consensus will be determined as follows:

- Similar to in person meetings, the Chair will ask for those voting – in favor and opposed. However, the Chair will begin with opposed.
- If you are in favor of the motion, please do not respond; however, if you are voting against, then respond by saying Opposed or by using the red icon NO also found in PARTICIPANTS. It will be assumed that those who do not respond are in favor.
- In the event that a formal vote is required, please use the green icon YES to vote in favor, and the red icon NO to vote against. Both icons are found in PARTICIPANTS.
- The results will be communicated by the Chair at the end of each agenda item requiring a vote.

End/Leave Meeting

Meeting attendees can leave the meeting by using the LEAVE MEETING icon at the bottom right of the screen. The Chair or Secretary can also end the meeting for everyone.

   MOTION: (G. Vaillancourt / J. Potvin)
   “that the minutes of the meeting of November 12, 2021 be approved.”

   CARRIED

4. Business Arising from the Minutes
   The Wild Talks with Jean-Marc Vallée that was held on November 16, was the first in-person event for students and the community since the start of the pandemic. It was a great success. Later that week the Cinema students had a workshop with Jean-Marc Vallée.

   There will be in-person convocation ceremonies at Place-des-arts on February 16, 2022 at 7:30 p.m. for the Spring 2020, Fall 2020 and Spring 2021 graduates. Convocations for the recent Fall 2021 graduates and the Winter 2022 graduates will be held in June 2022. The date has not yet been announced.

5. Chair’s Remarks
   - The Dean congratulated everyone for making it through a challenging term, successfully.
   - There were four 4 cases of COVID-19 on campus the week of November 28 to December 5 and there is no reason to suspect a transmission has occurred. No more than 0-6 cases weekly have been reported so far, which means that the measures are working. The COVID-19 dashboard continues to be updated weekly. The Dean reminded everyone to remain very vigilant in view of the spread of the Omicron variant. The University is in constant communication with the Public Health authorities and continues to adjust its directives accordingly.

   - The President’s Task Force on Anti-Black Racism released preliminary findings and recommendations and Angélique Willkie, who chairs the task force, presented the report to the Deans this week. The Dean encouraged everyone to read the report and to engage by beginning to think about how Fine Arts can embody and contribute to, some of the recommendations. Angélique Willkie will be invited to present the recommendations at a Faculty Council meeting this winter. The final recommendations will be issued in the spring or summer and will have been the culmination of two years of active engagement, consultations and reflections by the task force members.

CTL BLENDED TEACHING RESOURCES

The Centre for Teaching and Learning (CTL) offers helpful resources to plan blended courses.

UNIVERSAL DESIGN FOR LEARNING (UDL)

The Centre for Teaching and Learning (CTL) and the Access Centre for Students with Disabilities (ACSD) collaborated on an infographic for faculty on Universal Design for Learning (UDL).

This infographic is the first of many resources the University hopes to roll out in the near future on UDL in direct response to interest from faculty to learn more about inclusive teaching practices.
Faculty of Fine Arts Research Space Policy and Guidelines

OVERVIEW:

The Faculty of Fine Arts (FOFA) currently occupies a diverse set of research, curricular and administrative spaces on the Sir George Williams and Loyola campuses in Montréal. Spread out over two campuses and 14 buildings, faculty, staff and students use spaces in myriad ways, including for teaching and learning; production and presentation; office and administration; independent study and more. With a largesse of researchers and critical limits to our building footprint, navigating needs for research space remains challenging, as space remains a finite resource.

This document lays out policy and guidelines for Faculty of Fine Arts research space exclusively. For the purpose of this document, we define Faculty of Fine Arts research space as follows:

- spaces designated for research activities by the Faculty or University.
- designated spaces where research activities are led by full-time faculty, in conjunction with highly qualified personnel (postdoctoral, graduate and/or undergraduate students).
- miscellaneous, extra-departmental spaces administered by the Faculty that have in practice been used for research purposes.

The Faculty advocates for, manages and allocates temporary access for Faculty researchers to research spaces, which are owned by the University and shared across research units and departments. The management and allocation of research space is an ongoing and collaborative process; every effort is made to try to accommodate needs wherever possible.

These guidelines are meant to facilitate understanding and practice; and to support the planning, management and allocation of FOFA research spaces, including labs, studios, offices and/or shared infrastructure. The aim of this document is to:

- Outline roles and responsibilities for the allocation and management of research space
- Clarify rules and optimize access to and use of research space
- Establish equitable, consistent, efficient and flexible parameters for the allocation of space

The Faculty allocates research space to activities and projects, activated by faculty members and research centres, in support of Faculty and University strategic research priorities and based on current as well as evolving needs. Research space may be allocated where robust activity, funding and/or the specific requirements of the research project/activity affirm a need for space on campus. Allocations are made temporarily and adjudicated annually by the Facilities Manager, the Dean’s Office and the Faculty Research Space Committee (FRSC). Annual reviews will allow for the adjustment of allocations to meet evolving needs.

Please note that designated Departmental space being used for research purposes by Department members is not governed by this policy.
needs and to optimize space utilization, including identifying underutilized spaces and suggestions for improved space utilization. The Annual Review process is managed by the Dean’s Office. When space is available, a formal Call for Research Space Allocations will be held; with adjudication by the FRSC.

GUIDING CORE PRINCIPLES:

- Any allocation of research space will be closely tied to:
  1) Research impact, reflected in the number of researchers active in the team, including highly qualified personnel (HQP—graduate students, postdoctoral students, academic personnel), as well as community and/or undergraduate researchers; and in the level of productivity, including outcomes such as publications, exhibitions, performances, public programming, community-based events and more; please note that equity, diversity, inclusivity and accessibility of the research and research/environment will be considered;
  2) Research funding, including Tri-Council funding; Provincial funding; Donor, endowment and/or community partnership funding; Internal grants and/or Inter-University collaborations; and
  3) Reasoned need for campus location; that is, a clear rationale for research activities/projects to be situated on Concordia’s campus, including but not limited to proximity to shared equipment or spaces.
  4) Faculty and university strategic research priorities.

To restate: research impact; funding; and specific need for on-campus space, as well as support for strategic research priorities are key factors in determining space allocations.

- No allocation of research space is permanent; allocations are subject to change over time. In general, space is assigned to activities, not to individuals. One critical exception is the Canada Research Chair (CRC) program. In the case of CRCs, hiring and research may be predicated on designated lab space; space needs are determined during the onboarding process in dialogue with the Dean’s Office. Upon completion of the CRC, the space returns to the Faculty for re-allocation. In the case of Canada Innovation Fund (CFI) infrastructure, a plan for shared use, maintenance and facility life-cycle is built into the application, planning and implementation process. The infrastructure remains within the Faculty of Fine Arts and, upon completion of CFI funding, space and equipment return to the space inventory for allocation.

- Space allocation is limited by existing infrastructure, building configuration and type of space available.

- Space for equipment with specialized needs or requiring specialized environmental conditions and/or compatibility constraints will be addressed and reviewed separately by the Facilities Manager (FM), Dean’s Office.
On an annual and/or ongoing basis, the Faculty of Fine arts will review space allocation and needs around reconfiguration and/or renovation. The requirements for research space remain dynamic and will expand and contract over time.

FACTORS CONSIDERED IN RENEWAL OF RESEARCH SPACE ALLOCATION:

- Principal Investigators holding research space must maintain the level of impact, research funding and alignment with faculty research goals to maintain their space allocation. A grace period of six months may be possible for a PI who falls short in these areas to allow for the reinvigoration of activity and acquisition of new funding.
- Space must be fully utilized at 70% of the average work week (3.5 days at minimum). Under-utilized or vacant space will be repurposed by the Faculty (with four-weeks notice given).
- Sharing whenever possible will allow for optimal and full space utilization.
- Space must not be used for storage of obsolete equipment, waste, or personal belongings.
- All University and Faculty health and safety regulations and procedures must be followed.

ADDITIONAL SPACE OR FACILITIES REQUIRED FOR NEW RESEARCH PROJECTS:

- Any grant applications requiring an allocation of research space must be reviewed and approved by the Associate Dean, Research and Graduate Studies, before submission to funding bodies. Space needs that are unapproved by the ADRGS in advance of the application cannot be assured.
- All space allocations are dependent on the availability of suitable space within the Faculty at any given time.
- Allocation of space does not imply the approval of funds to carry out alterations or renovations; furthermore, successful funding does not imply the approval or provision of space.
- Where departmental space has been given to research by agreement of the department and the faculty, the space is returned to the department upon completion of the research project.

PROFESSORS EMERITI / REDUCED-TIME FACULTY / ON LEAVE:

- The university does not provide research space allocations to Professors Emeriti; reduced-time faculty; or faculty on leave.
- Professors Emeriti may continue to access FOFA research spaces and equipment where they are active.
- FOFA aims to support the ongoing research activities of its Emeriti, where ever possible.
• Faculty with a designated research space allocation who are moving to a reduced-time appointment; or on leave will be reassessed and may be asked to vacate the allocated research space. Any new requests for space allocations from these faculty will be subject to the above policies.

INTER-DEPARTMENT, FACULTY AND UNIVERSITY RESEARCH COLLABORATIONS:

• Multi-investigator collaborations across departments as well as multi-faculty collaborations and research centre space needs will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis.
• Shared use of research space is strongly encouraged and a favorable factor in the adjudication of space.

PART-TIME FACULTY/LTA/ETA:

• The university does not provide research space allocations to part-time faculty; LTAs or ETAs.
• Part-time faculty/LTAs/ETAs may be given shared access to research space held by full-time faculty, when they are members of the full-time faculty’s research team.

ACADEMIC VISITORS (AV), AFFILIATE PROFESSORS (AF), RESEARCH ASSISTANTS (RA):

Some use and/or access to research space may be provided to AVs, APs and/or RAs by faculty members who already hold allocated research space. Alternate temporary spaces for conducting research at Concordia University include the Visual Collections Repository (VCR) and the Library, including access to the Grey Nuns Building, the Technology Sandbox and the Visualization Studio. Additionally, some programs may have designated space temporarily available for use by researchers. Such spaces are shared only at the discretion of the Department Chair and/or council.

RESPONSIBILITIES AND PROCESSES:

Dean, Faculty of Fine Arts:
• To ensure overall equitable and optimal use of FOFA space resources, in dialogue with strategic research plans.
• To exercise final authority over all Faculty space allocations, designations and changes in use of space.

Associate Dean, Research and Graduate Studies (ADRGS):
• To ensure equitable access and opportunity for researchers along the principles outlined above, in dialogue with the Facilities Manager (FM), the Dean and the researchers.
• To exercise final authority over all FOFA space allocations on behalf of the Dean as needed.
• To Chair the Faculty Research Space Committee (FRSC) for the annual adjudication of space allocations, in dialogue with the Supervisor, Academic and Research Facilities; and the FM.
• To ensure that allocation occurs in accordance with the Faculty and University Strategic Research plans, in discussion with the FM and the Dean.
• To approve any institutional commitments for space associated with Tri-Agency grant applications before grants are submitted; and to track institutional commitments once made.
• To consult with the Dean and FM as required to when questions related to allocation of space arise.

Facilities Manager (FM):
• To manage and maintain the Faculty’s research space inventory.
• To manage access and allocation of the Faculty’s research space inventory.
• To serve as a consultant and share expertise during the annual review and space allocation process, in dialogue with Supervisor, the ADRGS and the FRSC.
• To provide guidance to the Dean, the ADRGS, department chairs and researchers on all matters related to space; and on the implementation of these processes and procedures.
• To serve as frontline contact for researchers with space allocation needs, in dialogue with the ADRGS and the Dean.

Supervisor, Academic and Research Facilities (SARF):
• To support the FM in the daily administration, frontline contact and maintenance of the Faculty’s space inventory.
• To manage the annual review and call for allocation processes, in dialogue with the FM and ADR.
• To support researchers in accessing and maintaining research facilities.

FORMATION OF THE FACULTY RESEARCH SPACE COMMITTEE (FRSC):

In the event that the Faculty issues a Call for Research Space Allocation, a committee will be formed comprising the Chair of each department. The Committee will meet in May to adjudicate requests for the coming year according to the principles of the Faculty of Fine Arts research space guidelines. Quorum consists of four members, plus the SARF, FM, and Committee Chair.

PROCESSES TO ACCESS AND/OR MAINTAIN A RESEARCH SPACE ALLOCATION:

• Any researcher already holding allocated research space must submit an annual report (see attached template) detailing activities and funding and requesting renewed allocation by January 30 annually. This report allows the Faculty to assess availabilities for the following year. Failure to submit a report will automatically return designated space to the available space inventory for the coming year.

- In years when allocations are available, the Faculty will circulate a Call for Research Space Allocation by April, with a deadline to submit by May 1. Any researcher seeking a research space allocation may do so by submitting a request form in response to a Request for Research Space (see attached template).
- Please note: due to the extremely limited amount of space available, it is anticipated that there may be years when a Call for Research Space Allocation is not circulated. The Call will only be circulated when there is a real opportunity for researchers to acquire an allocation.

ADDITIONAL RESEARCH SPACES:

The faculty holds numerous practice-based research spaces; these are available to the larger Faculty of Fine Arts community through booking reservation systems. They include:

Essential International Field Research Activities
Faculty of Fine Arts, Concordia University

Concordia University’s policy decisions related to COVID-19 pandemic are guided by directives from the government of Quebec and Public Health authorities. As such, field research may be approved for field research activities deemed “essential.” Our main guiding principle is the health and safety of our community and those communities with, and within which, we do research.

Faculty, post-doctoral fellows and graduate students wishing to conduct international field research are asked to fill out a Request to Continue Essential Field Research Form, and submit this to their Department Chair. In the case of a graduate student, post-doctoral fellow, or field research personnel, the supervisor or PI should submit the form making the request on their behalf as an indication of support. Should the Department Chair agree that the work should continue, the request will then be forwarded to the Associate Dean, Research and Graduate Studies for review and approval of the Chair’s decision, and finally a copy of the form must be sent to the Vice-President, Research and Graduate Studies (VPRGS). The decision should be transmitted to the faculty member within a week of submitting the request.

Please review the criteria carefully when determining if the field research is critical, time-sensitive and able to be performed in a manner that does not jeopardize the health and safety of the broader community or person(s) performing the work.

The following criteria will be considered in the deliberation:

- The time-sensitive nature of the project (i.e. the variable of interest can only be observed, measured, evaluated during the spring/summer season)
- The variable of interest is time-sensitive and part of a longitudinal study
- The field research can be conducted while complying with physical distancing and hygiene protocols as required by the guidelines set forth by all federal, provincial, and municipal governments and Public Health authorities and taking into account the following:
  - Transportation plan (location will be a key factor due to restrictions on travelling between regions and cities)
  - Accommodation/lodging/food procurement and preparation plans
  - The requirements of some protocols to have multiple people working together, or the safety considerations of potentially working alone
  - Adequate arrangements for cleaning and disinfecting work tools, instruments, equipment etc.
  - The possibility of injury in the field
- The project does not, in most cases, require face-to-face interaction with human participants
- The project does not require new animals to be cared for in the Animal Care Facilities
- There is a mitigation plan to return safely from the field if any member of the research team becomes ill or injured
- All ethics, EHS, animal care, etc. approvals have been fulfilled as with normal field research activities
- Community approvals have been fulfilled as with normal research involving Indigenous peoples
- The impact of any delays on program completion and career advancement.

While we recognize the serious and long-lasting impact fieldwork restrictions may have on research projects and personnel, our priority is the health and safety of our researchers, staff, and students. We appreciate the creativity, perseverance and cooperation of faculty, post-doctoral fellows, graduate students and Chairs as we seek ways to transform research activities so that productivity and forward progress is maintained.

Resuming In-Person Human Research Activities at Concordia University

Concordia University is preparing to resume research requiring in-person contact with human participants. In this return, our main guiding principle remains the health and safety of our community and of those communities with whom, and within which, we conduct research.

Given the current situation related to the COVID-19 pandemic, we strongly recommend that researchers conducting research involving human participants amend their methodology, if possible, towards an online format. Those researchers who have already submitted an amendment request to their ethics protocols and received approval are encouraged to continue their research using remote participation methods.

Faculty, post-doctoral fellows and graduate students, who believe it is absolutely necessary to resume in-person human research activities, should complete a Request to Resume In-Person Human Research Form (see steps below), regardless of whether the research is conducted on- or off-campus.

If you anticipate resuming in-person research activities, you must ensure compliance with COVID-19 health and safety requirements (see resources below). Additional procedures that are standard to the COVID-19 situation would rarely be considered changes to the actual research methodology. For example, COVID-19 related cleaning, PPE procedures, or asking a focus group to sit further apart would not require an ethics amendment, in that the implementation of these procedures would not normally change the research methodology. However, should implementation of COVID-19 procedures impact such aspects as how or what data is collected, how a research question is phrased or the target population, these changes would warrant an ethics amendment. If an amendment to your ethics protocol is required, please submit your amendment request prior to submitting this request form. This requirement applies if your research is approved by an alternate Research Ethics Board (REB). For research projects using the imaging suite at the PERFORM Centre, the same parameters apply with the amendment being submitted to the Comité Central d’Éthique de la Recherche (CCER) for review prior to resuming the project. Note that approval of requests to resume in-person research will be conditional upon the approval of the amendment.

To request a resumption of in-person human research activities, please follow these steps:

1. Fill out a Request to Resume In-Person Human Research Form (included below). Forms should be completed and signed by the Principal Investigator (faculty, post-doctoral fellow or graduate student). In the case of graduate students or post-doctoral fellows, the form should also be signed by their faculty supervisor, as a confirmation of their support.

2. Submit the completed form to the Department Chair for preliminary review. For research taking place at the PERFORM Centre, the form should be submitted to the Scientific Director and the Assistant Director, Research Development Initiatives, for preliminary review.

3. Once the preliminary review is completed, the form should be transmitted to Ms. Sabine Xia, Assistant to Associate Vice-Presidents, Office of the Vice-President Research & Graduate Studies, via email at sabine.xia@concordia.ca.

4. The request will be assessed by a central committee composed of representatives from the Faculties, the PERFORM Centre, Environmental Health and Safety, the Research Ethics unit and the Office of Vice-President, Research and Graduate Studies.
The committee will meet weekly and as such, you may expect the decision of the committee to be transmitted to the faculty member within 10 working days of submitting the request. The decision of the committee will also include further instructions (e.g. self-assessment procedures for participants) and documentation related to access to campus for you and your research participants.

While we recognize the serious and long-lasting impact restrictions may have on research projects and personnel, our priority is the health and safety of our researchers, staff, and students as well as that of the research participants with whom we work. We appreciate the creativity, perseverance and cooperation of faculty, post-doctoral fellows and graduate students as we seek ways to transform research activities so that productivity and forward progress is maintained.

Please note any approval may be revoked, depending the evolution of local health and safety contexts, with regards to COVID-19 as well as other issues.

Please consult the following resources before submitting your Request to Resume In-Person Human Research Form, and ensure that your research is compliant with current guidelines:
