

Lab Assistant in the Distributed Computing and Systems Lab (Concordia Student Research Assistant)

Department

Electrical and Computer Engineering

Position title

Full-time Lab Assistant in the Distributed Computing and Systems Lab
(Concordia Student Research Assistant)

Posting period

Dec 10, 2025, to Dec 15, 2025. The posting will remain active until a suitable candidate is found.

Position start and end dates

January 15, 2026 through April 31, 2026

Brief description of duties and expertise

A full-time Research Assistant is sought to conduct research and engineering work in the distributed computing and systems (DISCOS) lab located in EV15.163. The DISCOS lab, led by Dr. Gengrui Zhang, conducts research on vector databases, cloud computing, and distributed systems.

The Research Assistant will join the research team and assist research activities with other members in the group. Remote work is not possible.

Qualifications

- Must be a current undergraduate student pursuing bachelor's degree in engineering or computer science at Concordia University
- Familiarity with DBMS and operating systems.

Principle investigator and supervisor

Dr. Gengrui Zhang

Salary information

$19.45/hour for approximately 150 hours.

Application instructions

Interested applicants should submit their inquiries and/or application by email to Dr. Gengrui Zhang.

This posting will remain active until the successful applicant is selected.

This position falls under the CREW-RA collective