Finding articles: use a mix of popular & academic

Academic (Scholarly) Journals

- Author is associated with university or research centre
- evidence of research; not just opinions or description
- articles are usually at least 8 pages long
- Extensive bibliographies

Remember libraries don't subscribe to every journal

If the library doesn't have a journal, you can get articles through Interlibrary Loans

Search Tools: databases, google scholar, and more

Keep in mind:

What types of documents are being searched articles, web pages, books, theses, etc.

Dates being covered

Where keywords are searched in the full-text or abstracts

Cinema Databases to use for finding articles:

- Film & Television Literature Index (covers 1971 to present)
 - covers approximately 300 journals and magazines on film, t.v., and media
 - can be cross-searched with Art Fulltext & other relevant databases
- FIAF Index to Film Periodicals (covers 1972 to present)
 - covers over 200 international journals; some unique titles
- Film Index International (covers 1930 to present)
 - Provides bibliographies for films and directors

Note: there is some overlap between databases

If you don't find enough relevant articles on a film, adjust keywords to broaden search

Example of search approaches to use if you are researching the film “spirited away” by miyazaki

Search 1: “spirited away” and miyazaki

Search 2: female* and miyazaki

Search 3: female* or girl* and animated film

Search features in most databases

Searching: Film & Television Literature Index | Choose Databases

miyazaki	Select a Field (option... ▼	Search
AND ▼ "spirited away"	Select a Field (option... ▼
AND ▼ female* or girl*	Select a Field (option... ▼

- and – connects different concepts
- or – searches for either term (expands search)
-  to look for the root of a word and all other endings
