Ice-breaker activity

- | | |
|--|----------------------|
| 1. I use or have used library services. | 1. Move your fingers |
| 2. I know how to evaluate a source (is it reliable, of good quality?). | 2. Touch your head |
| 3. When I search for articles, I often find what I'm looking for. | 3. Play air piano |
| 4. I prefer to use Google / Scholar to find scholarly articles. | 4. Wave |
| 5. I have attended a library workshop before. | 5. Take a bow |
| 6. I've met with a librarian to find relevant sources for an assignment. | 6. Clap your hands |

This activity was created by K-Lee Fraser, University of Toronto Scarborough, K-Lee's Remixed Information Literacy Games. (unpublished)

Other Search operators

Exact phrase searching

Quotation marks (" ") are used to search for an expression in its exact form (phrase searching). They are useful for expressions containing more than one word. For example, "rite of passage" or "black Christ" will find these words written together, without their variants, in that order.

Truncation

The asterisk (), placed at the end of a word, replaces 0, 1 or more characters. For example, chat will find chat, chats, chatte, chaton, but also château, Chateaubriand, Châtelaine... It will not, however, find matou, félin, or lynx. Another example: relig*: relig*ion*, relig*ions*, religare, relig*ious*, relig*ieux*, relig*ieuse*.

While scholarly arguments have been advanced for why this is untrue, Vodou is persistently plagued by a poor reputation. This is buttressed, in part, by the frequent appearance in popular culture of the imagined religion of "voodoo." Vodou and voodoo have entwined destinies, and Vodou will
